LEADERS PLAY SAFE WHILE POLICE HOLD ONLY FEW SUSPECTS

Moran Crowd Wiped Out; Throne Of Al Capone Totters

CHICAGO, Feb. 15.—Fear, not of the law but of the leaden hail which mowed down seven men in gangland's first massacre, drove the leading figures in Chicago's beer traffic to the safety of their guarded haunts today.

The Mexican "standoff" execution of seven henchmen of George "Bugs" Moran, recorded as the St. Valentine's Day massacre, presaged certain death for the few remaining powers of gangland who dared to venture outside their own four walls. The throne of "Scarface" Al Capone was tottering — the forces of one of his trusted allies, Moran, were wiped out.

The flare of machine gun and shotgun fire directed at the seven men lined against the brick wall of a northside beer truck garage left Moran virtually unprotected. Various rumors said he had been wounded but police believed it impossible that anyone of the intended victims of the planned executions could have escaped.

Capone and his deadly rival Joe Aiello, ruler of the Aiello mob, were absent from the city.

Only one witness to the slaughter remained alive today, a cowering police dog which looked on, chained to a beer truck, while the five executioners berded their victims against the brick wall and riddled their bodies.

One of the seven victims lived for an hour after he faced the machine and shot guns of his rivals but in that hour he clung to gangland's code and refused to admit even that he had been shot.

Police reached the scene while the blood still flowed along the line of execution. The severely injured man on the brick wall and the riddled bodies testified to the massacre. The executioners, eighty-eight machine gun and sub-machine gunners, were on the floor, less than fifteen feet from the wall, presumably the distance the executioners stood from their victims.

One theory which police considered today was that the gunmen might have done the shooting. A short time ago, police captured two trucks loaded with liquor which had come from Detroit.

The driver said he was supposed to meet "some red-head" here and deliver it. George Moran has red hair.

However, it was pointed out that the gunmen hardly would stage their slaughter in Chicago if that were the motive. Rather they would watch the gangsters while making deliveries, it was said.

Patrolmen cruised throughout gangland districts last night and early today, rounding up all persons with police records.

Starting early, the police squads cruised throughout the district, the liquor traffic and they served to arouse police to the most determined effort ever staged to rid the city of gangsters.

It is highly doubtful, however, that the men who committed the massacre will be brought to official justice. There is little question but that they were imported killers.

The state's attorney issued orders for all men picked up as soon as news of the killings. Most of the gang districts, there was a hurried moving movement. Those who might have had knowledge of the shooting were under cover and few men of importance were taken to the state's attorney's office.

Not more than two score were taken in by the squads. Most of these were the lesser lights who declared vehemently they didn't know a thing about the shooting or about gangsters.

TWO DIE VIOLENTLY

COLUMBUS, O., Feb. 15.—Tragic deaths claimed the lives of two men here today.

Allen W. Justice, 70, was killed when he was struck by a Hocking Valley train at a crossing.

An unidentified man, aged about 55, died a few moments after he was run down by an automobile.

HANGS HIMSELF

FINDLAY, O., Feb. 15.—Ellsworth Fagan, apparently despondent over marital troubles, hanged himself yesterday in front of his brother-in-law's home where his estranged wife was living.

HOLD WOMEN ON SLAYING OF INFANTS

A confession signed by Mrs. Okel Gorham 23, at St. Joseph, Mich., has led to the holding of Mrs. Gorham and her mother, Mrs. Wallace Lewis, 49, of Eau Claire, Mich., for sanity tests in connection with the killing of five babies, three belonging to the younger woman and two to the other. Police believe the women demented. Murder charges have been withheld until the sanity tests have been completed. Above, left to right, Herbert Gorham, 61, husband of Mrs. Gorham; Mrs. Gorham, Mrs. Lewis, and Wallace Lewis. Below, the Lewis home at Eau Claire, where the killings are said to have taken place.

INTENSIVE DRY LAW ENFORCEMENT WILL START WITH HOOVER

Appropriations Will Be Higher Than Ever Before

WASHINGTON, Feb. 15.—An intensive drive to enforce prohibition by the Hoover administration was foreseen today when it became known that appropriations for that activity will be larger than ever before since passage of the Volstead act.

Increased estimates for dry law enforcement are being sent to congress to supplement the regular appropriations by both the treasury and justice departments. The treasury has announced it will ask for $2,700,000 additional, and the justice department will ask for more than $1,000,000 extra funds.

With the regular appropriations for these departments, a total of about $50,000,000 will be available for enforcement activities at the start of the Hoover administration. The supplemental appropriations will be incorporated in the pending deficiency bill by the house appropriations committee.

The total appropriations for prohibition enforcement, to be available when congress has approved the extra funds requested, will be divided as follows: justice department $10,000,000; treasury $2,700,000; and $37,300,000 for customs service.

In addition the coast guard though not to receive any additional amount will spend about $10,000,000 on its dry fleet.

Prohibition Commissioner James R. Doran told the United Press today he is planning to engage 400 additional dry agents, to add to the present staff of about 3,000 men. The customs service will use the extra $1,000,000 it will receive to place more agents at New York harbor and extra border patrolmen along the Canadian border.

Plans of the justice department for expending its extra appropriation include expansion of its staff of attorneys to try dry cases.

THREE MURDERERS SAVED FROM DEATH

CHICAGO, Feb. 15.—Three convicted murderers were saved from execution, scheduled here for early today, by last minute stays.

Dave Shanks, negro, convicted of beating to death a young Peoria school teacher, was the last to be granted a stay.

Judge Dennis Normoyle granted Shanks' attorneys twenty-one days in which to draw up a petition for clemency only a few hours before Shanks was to have died in the electric chair.

Earlier yesterday, Charles Walz and Anthony Greco, convicted of murdering a policeman, were granted stays until next Wednesday.

CONGRESS TODAY

Senate:
Considers Jones prohibition bill.
Expects to hear arguments on Walsh Salt Creek report.
Public land committee meeting on routine bills.
Interstate commerce committee continues executive discussion of Fess railroad bill.
Audit and control committee to meet on proposed expenditures for Indian investigation.
House:
Considers private calendar bills.
Ways and means committee hearing on tariff revision.

CARPENTER ADMITS MURDER OF RECLUSE NEAR JACKSON, OHIO

Struck Aged Victim With Stove Wood He Confesses

JACKSON, O., Feb. 15.—John E. Wallace, 61, a carpenter of Byer near here, confessed to police early today that he killed Marion Harper, 80, who was found dead in his shack near Byer Tuesday.

Wallace was arrested last yesterday in Chillicothe after it was learned he was with Harper just before the aged man was killed. He was returned to Jackson last night by Sheriff W. T. Griffith.

The carpenter was questioned from 7 p. m. until 2 a. m. when he finally broke down and admitted he slew Harper "during a fight."

Wallace made his confession to Griffith, Prosecutor Joseph Cleary of Columbus. At first he admitted liquor transactions with Harper but denied the slaying. Finally it was noticed that he was wearing new clothing and questioned, said his old ones were torn during a fight.

A few seconds later he said the fight was with Harper, then it was noticed he was with Harper just before the aged man was killed. He was returned to Jackson last night by Sheriff W. T. Griffith.

SEEK VANDALIA MAN IN INVESTIGATION OF KIDNAPING CASE

Disappeared Before Hillsboro Child Was Abducted

CINCINNATI, O., Feb. 15.—Authorities today continued searching for Orville Overholser of Vandalia, near Dayton, in seeking the whereabouts of four-year-old Nancy Ellen Keys who was kidnapped from the home of her foster parents and grandparents at Hillsboro.

Overholser, with whom the child once lived, was charged with a previous attempt to kidnap Nancy and waged a court fight to obtain custody of her after her mother, Mrs. Ellen Hammond, died under mysterious circumstances in Dayton.

Mrs. Hammond was divorced from her husband at the time and Overholser was a friend of the family. In this capacity he kept Nancy.

Nancy was kidnapped by a couple known as Mr. and Mrs. Bowman who went to Hillsboro two weeks ago and became friendly with the child's grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Nathan Keys, by feigning interest in church work.

A reward which may total $2,000 has been posted for the capture of the couple who, after taking Nancy and her aunt, Lillian, to Cincinnati, pushed Lillian from their car and fled.

Overholser, Dayton police say, was not at his home in Vandalia for several days before the kidnapping.

BODIES OF FATHER AND SON ARE TAKEN FROM UNDER SNOWSLIDE

CREEDE, Colo., Feb. 15.—Twelve men staggered into Creede late yesterday, bearing with them the bodies of James Wolfe, 50, and his son James, Jr., 17, who were buried in an avalanche of snow which thundered down Cochetopa Mountain.

The men headed by Ranger Van Aken, risked their lives to reach the spot near the base of the mountain where the cabin in which Wolfe and his son had taken refuge was swept. There was constant danger that even more snow would shake loose from the mountain and bury the searchers. The party spent three days searching for traces of the trapped. The bodies were found in a huge drift about six miles from the ranch house of Ralph Powell, who joined in the search.

None of the men was suffering seriously from their long hunt. Silverton, cut off from the outside world by slides, was entered yesterday. Pack mules broke through taking the town mail and food supplies.

NEW HAMPSHIRE, O., Feb. 15.—Fred Conrad, 24, entered the thirty-third day of a hunger strike today, determined to forget "ham and" until the devil is hors de combat. The fact that Conrad is on a hunger strike has just been learned and considerable interest has been aroused—particularly among the obese—because through fasting he has lost fifty pounds.

Conrad, an agent at the interurban station here, went on his hunger strike after a revival meeting, declaring he would fast until "the devil had been cast out of every sinner in New Hampshire."

EUROPE SUFFERING FROM INTENSE COLD AND FOOD SHORTAGE

Death Toll Reaches 166; 73 Gypsies Drown In River

LONDON, Feb. 15.—Shortage of food, fuel and drinking water in big European cities grew more acute today under the continued pressure of the most intense cold in many years, and at some points, in centuries.

Berlin, Vienna, Belgrade and London suffered principally, the latter from a water shortage which was growing intense. Snowbound freight trains were unable to take food and fuel into Berlin and Vienna, where coal tonnages above normal were needed to combat the below zero temperatures. The Belgrade water supply was almost frozen and homes there were suffering for want of coal.

The Thames, Seine and Rhine were frozen in places for the first time in years and 100 vessels were icebound in the Baltic Sea today. Shipping was hindered seriously, many vessels turning around before driving snowstorms along the English coast.

Railway service through the continent and in England was disrupted completely or badly impaired. Trains between Vienna and Budapest were suspended temporarily because of a snow blockade.

Wolves and wild boars abandoned their forest lairs and encroached on the edges of civilization. More than a score of persons have been killed this week by wolves and hunting parties were formed in towns and villages along the French Riviera to drive off the boars.

Tens of thousands of other animals and birds have died from the unprecedented weather.

Three boys were found dead on an ice floe on Lake Constance, on the Swiss-German border, after they had drifted all night. Five others were rescued from the same floe with their limbs frozen.

The death toll for the past six days totalled 166 specifically reported. Many other deaths were believed to have occurred.

Economic experts believed almost $1,000,000 worth of coal was being burned in Germany daily and the supply of coal was low.

The Seine was frozen from bank to bank at Montreuil and was filled with ice floes at Paris.

A rescue train was sent to Szekefehervar, Hungary, where a train with 170 passengers was imprisoned in a snowdrift.

The fuel shortage grew worse in Czechoslovakia and all except food and coal trains were cancelled because of the weather.

A gypsy caravan said to number seventy-three was drowned Wednesday when the band started across the river Drave on ice that was too thin, reports received at Vienna from Zagreb said today. The accident occurred near the village of Tolowec.

WORKMAN SCALDED

ROSEVILLE, O., Feb. 15.—Frank Hileman, 45, was perhaps fatally scalded when a steam line in the boiler room of the Ransbottom Pottery Plant here exploded today.

He was taken to a hospital at Zanesville. The factory was closed for the day when water flooded the plant.

FARMER FOUND DEAD

LANCASTER, O., Feb. 15.—A. C. Snyder, retired Bremen farmer, was found dead in bed yesterday. He had been in poor health since suffering injuries five years ago.

BISHOP HENDERSON RITES ON THURSDAY

CINCINNATI, O., Feb. 15.—Dr. Theodore S. Henderson, resident bishop of the Methodist Episcopal Church of the Ohio-Kentucky area, who died here Monday, was buried late yesterday.

The services were solemnly impressive and were characterized by expressions of affectionate tribute to the noted churchman whose death came so unexpectedly.

Under tentative plans, Bishop Henderson's position will not be filled until the next session of the general conference. Meantime, however, the area will be administered by three other districts.

The Ohio conference, including Cincinnati, will be administered by Bishop Edgar Blake of Indianapolis. The northeastern Ohio conference will be directed by Bishop Herbert Welch of Pittsburgh and the Kentucky area will be in charge of Bishop H. Lester Smith of the Chattanooga area.

FASTS TO DRIVE DEVIL FROM STATE

He weighed 200 pounds when he passed up his first meal. Three weeks later he topped the scales at 170 and today he weighed only 150.

Conrad's father, a grocer at Russell Point, quotes his son as saying he will not eat "until the devil has been cast out of his father and every sinner in New Hampshire."

SEEK KIDNAPERS OF HILLSBORO BABY

Hillsboro, O., officials and an incensed citizenry have combined to offer a reward of $2,000 for the arrest of a man and woman, alleged kidnapers of Nancy Ellen Hammond Keys, four, abducted by autoists at Cincinnati. Nancy, inset, and her foster sister, Miss Lillian Keys, above, were out walking when invited to ride with the couple, friends of a week. In Cincinnati Miss Keys was thrown from the car. The kidnapping climaxes a fight for the custody of the child, carried on since her mother's death in 1927.

LEGISLATIVE JAM DEVELOPS IN SENATE AS SESSION NEARS END

WASHINGTON, Feb. 15.—The legislative jam which has always characterized the closing days of short sessions of congress has now enveloped the senate where bills are being battered against each other in a fight for precedence.

GENERAL ASSEMBLY WILL RECEIVE LAST BILLS NEXT MONDAY

Adjourns Friday; Expect 600 Measures Will Be Offered

COLUMBUS, O., Feb. 15.—The general assembly was in adjournment today until Monday night when the bars against new bills go down.

If yesterday's session is any indication more than 600 bills will have been tossed into the legislative hopper by next Tuesday morning.

Monday's session probably will last all night. Before adjourning yesterday the senate and house added fifty-one new bills to the legislative list, boosting the session's total to 339 of which 347 originated in the house and 189 in the senate.

If the present assembly follows precedent, an additional 200 measures will be introduced Monday night.

Outstanding measures introduced yesterday included proposals to make illegal the possession of malt, license retail stores and levy increase the gasoline tax to four cents a gallon, provide for compulsory automobile liability insurance administered by the state, levy a ten per cent sales tax upon cigars, and to amend the workmen's compensation laws in order to speed up the disposition of insurance claims by the state industrial commission.

Possibly by coincidence there was an unusual number of proposed revenue-raising measures among the day's bills.

Rep. G. E. Sharp, Vinton County merchant, who introduced the retail store license bill, said he estimated this measure, if enacted, would yield between $8,000,000 and $10,000,000 a year in revenue to the state.

RAILWAY EXPRESS MERGER APPROVED

WASHINGTON, Feb. 15.—A plan under which the railway express business of the country will be combined in a railroad owned agency, the Railway Express Agency, was approved today by the interstate commerce commission.

Authority was granted the Railway Express Agency, Inc., to issue 1,000 shares of capital stock with par value and $32,000,000 of five per cent gold bonds to purchase properties of the American Railway Express Company and for working capital.

Eighty-five railroads interested in the project were given authority by the commission to acquire control of the Railway Express Agency and to share profits among themselves.

CITY COMMISSION APPROVES BILL TO ESTABLISH COURT

To Ask Representative Williamson To Present Measure

Introduction of a bill in the state legislature at its present session providing for the creation of a municipal court for Xenia, replacing the present mayor's court, established in 1926 when the old Xenia municipal court was ruled unconstitutional by the Ohio Supreme Court, was authorized by City Commission Thursday night.

The commission, acting on the advice of City Solicitor J. A. Finney, decided a municipal court rather than a police court, would best serve local needs.

R. D. Williamson, Greene County's representative in the house of representatives, will be asked to sponsor introduction of the bill.

The proposed legislation will first be placed in the hands of the legislature's codifying committee, which will ascertain whether any of its provisions are in conflict with the state law. If passed by the house and senate it will be enacted into law and start to function in 1930.

The bill was drafted by Solicitor Finney with the assistance of members of the Greene County Bar Association. The court has the unanimous endorsement of the bar and was approved by all of its seventeen members at a conference with Solicitor Finney Wednesday night.

Establishment of a municipal court in Xenia will mean the automatic abolishment of Xenia Twp.'s two justice of the peace courts and the present mayor's court.

The principal feature of a municipal court is that the judge, who is elected to a four-year term by a vote of the people, has jurisdiction in civil as well as criminal cases and will be empowered to decide all civil matters arising in Xenia Twp., formerly taken care of by the magistrate courts.

Most of the larger cities of the state, about twenty in all, have municipal courts which have proven highly satisfactory. Solicitor Finney learned in a survey made to determine the advantages of both a municipal and police court.

DRASTIC CHANGE IN CATTLE TESTING IS SUGGESTED IN BILL

Would Pay Owner Of Condemned Cattle Appraised Price

COLUMBUS, O., Feb. 15.—A drastic change in Ohio's tuberculosis testing laws is suggested in the bill introduced by Rep. George H. Bellinger, Akron, and pending in the general assembly today.

He would have the state pay the owner of condemned and slaughtered cattle at least the appraised value of the animal. Under the present working policy of the department two-thirds of the difference of the appraised value and the sale price of the carcass.

The bill further provides that the state's appraisers must be "men having had a wide experience as cattle raisers and breeders." Veterinarians performing the testing would have to have ten years experience in their field.

Bellinger's measure draws a sharp differentiation between registered breeding cattle and "grade" stock. A check on the valuation of the higher priced type is set forth in these words:

"Registered cattle shall not be appraised at more than three times their value as beef or dairy cattle."

BISHOP HENDERSON RITES ON THURSDAY

CINCINNATI, O., Feb. 15.—Dr. Theodore S. Henderson, resident bishop of the Methodist Episcopal Church of the Ohio-Kentucky area, who died here Monday, was buried late yesterday.

The services were solemnly impressive and were characterized by expressions of affectionate tribute to the noted churchman whose death came so unexpectedly.

Under tentative plans, Bishop Henderson's position will not be filled until the next session of the general conference. Meantime, however, the area will be administered by three other districts.

Prohibition Commissioner James R. Doran told the United Press today he is planning to engage 400 additional dry agents, to add to the present staff of about 2,000 men.

The customs service will use the extra $1,000,000 it will receive to place more agents at New York harbor and extra border patrolmen along the Canadian border.

Plans of the justice department for expanding its extra appropriation include expansion of its staff of attorneys to try dry cases.

Earlier yesterday, Charles Walz and Anthony Grecco, convicted of murdering a policeman, were granted stays until next Wednesday.

Judge Dennis Normoyle granted Shanks' attorneys twenty-one days in which to draw up a petition for clemency only a few hours before Shanks was to have died in the electric chair.

CARPENTER ADMITS MURDER OF RECLUSE NEAR JACKSON, OHIO

Struck Aged Victim
With Stove Wood
He Confesses

JACKSON, O., Feb. 15.—John E. Wallace, 61, a carpenter of Byer near here, confessed to police today that he killed Marion Harper, 80, who was found dead in his shack near Byer Tuesday.

Wallace was arrested late yesterday in Chillicothe after it was learned he was with Harper just before the aged man was killed. He was returned to Jackson last night by Sheriff W. T. Griffith.

The carpenter was questioned from 7 p. m. until 2 a. m. when he finally broke down and admitted he slew Harper "during a fight."

Wallace made his confession to Griffith, Prosecutor Harry Reese and Detective Joseph Cleary of Columbus.

At first he admitted liquor transactions with Harper but denied the slaying. Finally it was noticed that he was wearing new clothing and questioned, said his old ones were torn during a fight.

A few seconds later he said the fight was with Harper, then he admitted killing the aged man with a piece of stove wood which was found near the shack.

Wallace went to Chillicothe late Tuesday. A brother told police his whereabouts.

Harper and Wallace had been friends for twenty-five years. After killing the aged man, Wallace said he carefully laid the body on the floor and fled. Harper's neck, backbone, hand and wrist were broken.

SEEK VANDALIA MAN IN INVESTIGATION OF KIDNAPING CASE

Disappeared Before
Hillsboro Child Was Abducted

CINCINNATI, O., Feb. 15.—Authorities today continued searching for Orville Overholser of Vandalia, near Dayton, in seeking the whereabouts of four-year-old Nancy Ellen Keys who was kidnaped from the home of her foster parents and grandparents at Hillsboro.

ROSEVILLE, O., Feb. 15.—Frank Hileman, 45, was perhaps fatally scalded when a steam line in the boiler room of the Ransbottom Pottery Plant here exploded today. He was taken to a hospital at Zanesville. The factory was closed for the day when water flooded the plant.

FARMER FOUND DEAD

LANCASTER, O., Feb. 15.—A. C. Snyder, retired Bremen farmer, was found dead in bed yesterday. He had been in poor health since suffering injuries five years ago.

SEEK KIDNAPERS OF HILLSBORO BABY

Hillsboro, O., officials and an incensed citizenry have combined to offer a reward of $2,000 for the arrest of a man and woman, alleged kidnapers of Nancy Ellen Hammond Keys, four, abducted by autoists at Cincinnati. Nancy, inset, and her foster sister, Miss Lillian Keys, above, were out walking when invited to ride with the couple, friends of a week. In Cincinnati Miss Keys was thrown from the car. The kidnaping climaxes a fight for the custody of the child, carried on since her mother's death in 1927.

LEGISLATIVE JAM DEVELOPS IN SENATE AS SESSION NEARS END

WASHINGTON, Feb. 15.—The legislative jam which has always characterized the closing days of short sessions of congress has now enveloped the senate where bills are being battered against each other in a fight for precedence.

GENERAL ASSEMBLY WILL RECEIVE LAST BILLS NEXT MONDAY

Adjourns Friday; Expect 600 Measures Will Be Offered

COLUMBUS, O., Feb. 15.—The general assembly, which is adjourning today until Monday night when the bars against new bills go down.

If yesterday's session is any indication more than 600 bills will have been tossed into the legislative hopper by next Tuesday morning.

Monday's session probably will last all night.

Before adjourning yesterday the senate and house added fifty-one new bills to the legislative grist, boosting the session's total to 535 of which 347 originated in the house and 188 in the senate.

A motion to make the substitution now is pending on the senate table.

The house, which has had an unusually uneventful session, is working on bills on the private calendar, undisturbed by the senate's difficulties. House leaders are unable to say what measures shall come to a vote and which ones may be killed in private and they have long ago cleared their calendar of the measures to get through.

BISHOP HENDERSON RITES ON THURSDAY

CINCINNATI, O., Feb. 15.—Dr. Theodore S. Henderson, resident bishop of the Methodist Episcopal Church of the Ohio-Kentucky area, who died here Monday, was buried late yesterday.

The services were solemnly impressive and were characterized by expressions of affectionate tribute to the noted churchman whose death came so unexpectedly.

Under tentative plans, Bishop Henderson's position will not be filled until the next session of the general conference. Meantime, however, the area will be administered by three other districts.

CITY COMMISSION APPROVES BILL TO ESTABLISH COURT

To Ask Representative
Williamson To Present Measure

Introduction of a bill in the state legislature at its present session providing for the creation of a municipal court for Xenia, replacing the present mayor's court, established in 1926 when the old Xenia municipal court was ruled unconstitutional by the Ohio Supreme Court, was authorized by City Commission Thursday night.

The commission, acting on the advice of City Solicitor J. A. Finney, decided a municipal court rather than a police court, would best serve local needs.

R. D. Williamson, Greene County's representative in the house of representatives, will be asked to sponsor introduction of the bill.

The proposed legislation will first be placed in the hands of the legislature's codifying committee, which will ascertain whether any of its provisions are in conflict with the state law. If passed by the house and senate it will be enacted into law and start to function in 1930.

The bill was drafted by Solicitor Finney with the assistance of members of the Greene County Bar Association. The court has the unanimous endorsement of the bar and was approved by all of its seventeen members at a conference with Solicitor Finney Wednesday night.

Establishment of a municipal court in Xenia will mean the automatic abolishment of Xenia Twp's, two justices of the peace courts and the present mayor's court.

The principal feature of a municipal court is that the judge, who is elected to a four-year term by a vote of the people, has jurisdiction in civil as well as criminal cases and will be empowered to decide all civil matters arising in Xenia Twp. formerly taken care of by the magistrate courts.

Most of the larger cities of the state, about twenty in all, have municipal courts which have proven highly satisfactory. Solicitor Finney learned in a survey made to determine the advantages of both a municipal and police court.

DRASTIC CHANGE IN CATTLE TESTING IS SUGGESTED IN BILL

Would Pay Owner Of Condemned Cattle Appraised Price

COLUMBUS, O., Feb. 15.—A drastic change in Ohio's tuberculosis testing laws is suggested in the bill introduced by Rep. George H. Belinger, Akron, and pending in the general assembly today.

He would have the state pay the owner of condemned and slaughtered cattle at least the appraised value of the animal. Under the present working policy of the department of agriculture the owner receives two-thirds of the difference of the appraised value and the sale price of the carcass.

The bill further provides that the state's appraisers must be "men having had a wide experience as cattle raisers and breeders." Veterinarians performing the testing would have to have ten years experience in their field.

Belinger's measure draws a sharp differentiation between registered breeding cattle and "grade" stock. A motion to make the substitution now is pending on the senate table.

The house, which has had an unusually uneventful session, is working on bills on the private calendar, undisturbed by the senate's difficulties. House leaders are unable to say what measures shall come to a vote and which ones may be killed in private and they have long ago cleared their calendar of the measures to get through.

RAILWAY EXPRESS MERGER APPROVED

WASHINGTON, Feb. 15.—A plan under which the railway express business of the country will be combined in a railroad owned agency, the Railway Express Agency, was approved today by the interstate commerce commission.

Authority was granted the Railway Express Agency, Inc. to issue 1,000 shares of capital stock with out par value and $25,000,000 of five per cent gold bonds to purchase properties of the American Railway Express Company and for working capital.

Eighty-five railroads interested in the project were given authority by the commission to acquire control of the Railway Express Agency and to share profits among themselves.

TWO DIE VIOLENTLY

COLUMBUS, O., Feb. 15.—Tragic deaths claimed the lives of two men here today.

Allen W. Justice, 70, was killed when he was struck by a Hocking Valley train at a crossing.

An unidentified man, aged about 35, died a few moments after he was run down by an automobile.

HANGS HIMSELF
FINDLAY, O., Feb. 15.—Ellsworth Fagan, apparently despondent over marital troubles, hanged himself yesterday in front of his brother-in-law's home where his estranged wife was living.

AUTO HURTS CHILD

AKRON, O., Feb. 15.—Vincent Cottrell, 9, was in a hospital here today suffering from injuries received when he was struck by a car driven by K. O. Christner, Akron heavyweight boxer. The accident occurred while the boy was coasting. Christner is a neighbor of the Cottrells. Police said the accident was unavoidable.

FASTS TO DRIVE DEVIL FROM STATE

NEW HAMPSHIRE, O., Feb. 15.—Fred Conrad, 24, entered the thirty-third day of a hunger strike today, determined to forget "ham and" until the devil is horn de combat.

The fact that Conrad is on a hunger strike has just been learned and considerable interest has been aroused—particularly among the obese—because through fasting he has lost fifty pounds.

Conrad, an agent at the interurban station here, went on his hunger strike after a revival meeting, declaring he would fast until "the devil had been cast out of every sinner in New Hampshire."

He weighed 200 pounds when he passed up his first meal. Three weeks later he topped the scales at 170 and today he weighed only 150.

Conrad's father, a grocer at Russell Point, quotes his son as saying he will not eat "until the devil has been cast out of his father and every sinner in New Hampshire."

Her death was caused by shock and complications following an accident last Thanksgiving when her hip was fractured. Several children survive. Mr. and Mrs. Apgar have been at New Boston for several days and were at her bedside when she died. Funeral services will be held Monday.

LOST 18 POUNDS THRU INDIGESTION; KONJOLA VICTOR

Ohio Resident Describes Relief From Stomach Trouble; Gained 8 Pounds on First Bottle of New Medicine.

"Oh, that I had known of Konjola sooner; what days and hours of suffering it would have saved me as this medicine worked untold wonders on my system," exclaimed Miss Gertrude C. Hudson, 1305 Summit Street, Columbus, Ohio.
"I steadily lost weight, going

MISS GERTRUDE C. HUDSON from 132 pounds to 104 pounds and was but a shadow of my former self. My appetite was poor and I from 132 pounds to 104 pounds and had to be very careful what I ate. Repeated attacks of indigestion, a sour condition of the stomach, flatulency, gas pressure and bloating affected my heart—all were the results of stomach trouble. I nearly dosed myself to death with medicines, but each attempt at relief was met with failure.
"My case reached a serious state and as a last chance I began the Konjola treatment. I soon knew that I had found the right medicine and the one that would make me well. I rapidly gained in strength and on the first bottle I put on eight pounds. I completed the treatment and every trace of stomach trouble was ended. I eat anything in any quantity without suffering afterward. Truly, Konjola is a marvelous medicine."
Konjola is different from any other known remedy in this section. It contains 22 juices extracted from natural plants, which invigorate the stomach, liver, kidneys, and bowels to a more healthy action. The effect of Konjola on the entire system brings amazing relief in cases of suffering that has been going on for years. At the same time, many weak and run-down systems have been restored to a new state of health through this compound. Such a vast number of men and women in this city have told of their experience with this new medical product, until now, Konjola is the most highly indorsed medicine that is known in this vicinity.
Konjola is sold in Xenia at the Gallaher Drug Store, and by all the best druggists throughout this entire section.

AUTOISTS HURT WHEN MACHINE HITS FREIGHT AT CROSSING

Paul Collins, 21, son of Frank Collins, Fairfield Pike, and his cousin, John Collins, 20, son of Harvey Collins, Fairfield Pike, are suffering from cuts and bruises sustained when their sedan crashed into the side of a moving freight train at a grade crossing at Barr's Station, on the outskirts of Dayton on the Dayton and Xenia Pike at 2:30 a. m. Friday.

Paul Collins was lacerated about the eyes and mouth and suffered principally from loss of blood. Ten or twelve stitches were required to close the wounds. His cousin sustained no broken bones but was painfully bruised and also cut. Their machine was wrecked and caught fire after the accident, but the two youths, who were not rendered unconscious, managed to escape from the wreckage. A passing motorist took them to a Dayton physician, who dressed their injuries. They were later removed to their respective homes.

The youths were returning to Xenia at the time of the accident after driving two girls, whom they had escorted to a dance in Xenia Thursday night, to their homes in Dayton.

Paul Collins, driver of the auto, failed to see the freight train until too late to either swerve aside or stop the car. An abrupt grade in the road reflected the headlights downward and a building at the crossing also obscured a view of the rails in one direction, the boys said.
The wrecked machine was taken to Dayton and later brought to a Xenia garage.
John Collins and his brother, Fred, conduct an auto agency at Osborn.

Betrothal Of Miss Mary Little Made Known

MISS Mary Little's engagement to Mr. Eddy William Eckerly of Cincinnati, was announced when her sister, Miss Helen Little, entertained a group of eight young women at dinner at the Grey Manor, Dayton, Thursday evening at 7 o'clock. Dinner was followed by the theater, the party seeing George Arliss in "The Merchant of Venice" at the Victory.

Dinner appointments were in Valentine colors, the table being centered by a low green bowl of crimson roses, while at each cover the nut basket held a tiny heart upon which was written the names of Miss Little and her fiancé. The announcement was one of much surprise to the guests and Miss Little was showered with felicitation when it was made known.

Miss Little, the eldest daughter of Mr. George Little is a Wellesley girl, having graduated from the eastern school in 1926. She is a member of the Women's Club this city, and popular with the younger society people.

Mr. Eckerly is the son of Mr. and Mrs. William Eckerly of Mt. Pleasant, Iowa. He is a graduate of the University of Iowa, received his M. A. degree at Harvard in 1926, and is now employed as chemist by the Procter and Gamble Co., Cincinnati. He is known among Xenia young people through his visits to the Little home.

While the wedding will be an event of the Spring, the date was not divulged at the announcement dinner.

In the party to which the announcement was made were Miss Helen Little, Miss Mary Little, Miss Alicia Monroe, Miss Josephine Wolf, Miss Helen Sayre, Miss Margaret Prugh, Miss Loretta Paulin and Mrs. Lawrence Shields.

PATRIOTIC MEETING BY TRINITY SOCIETY
Members of the Women's Home Missionary Society of Trinity M. E. Church were received by Mrs. Paul Owens at her home on N. Galway St. Thursday afternoon, the society observing at the time its annual patriotic meeting.

The program was made unusually interesting by the presence of Mrs. H. W. Collett, 532 S. Detroit St., who as a young child lived in Springfield, Ill., across the street from the home of Abraham Lincoln and gave a reminiscent talk of her recollections of the martyred president.

Mrs. J. J. Stout read an interesting paper "Underlying Democracy" dealing with the problems of the foreigner, the Negro, Indian and mountain people. "A nation is no stronger than its weakest citizen, therefore it behooves the Christian citizenship of America to accept the fact that education, prosperity, love and science will do much toward making the Indian, the Negro, the immigrant and the mountain people an asset and not a liability," Mrs. Stout said.

Mrs. Frank Bickett gave a talk about the life of Lincoln and told interesting stories concerning him. Mrs. Bickett was the program leader. Mrs. Clara Crawford was in charge of the devotionals and Mrs. H. C. Aultman presided at the short business session. Mrs. Owens, assisted by Mrs. J. J. Stout, Mrs. Clara Crawford and Mrs. Frank Bickett, served cake and coffee.

MCLELLAND W. C. T. U. MEETS AT CO. HOME
Mrs. James R. Scott, matron of the Greene County Children's Home was hostess when McClelland W. C. T. U. was entertained at that institution Wednesday afternoon. Assisting in the hospitalities were Mrs. Jasper Armentrout and Mrs. William Weiss.

"Child Welfare" was the general topic for the afternoon and the program in charge of Mrs. J. S. Van Eaton was featured by an interesting address by Mrs. Elizabeth Finlay Anderson, of the juvenile and probate courts. Mrs. Anderson talked about different phases of the work, interspersing her address with interesting personal experiences. A general discussion on the subject of the importance of the environment to the child at the impressionable age, followed. The discussion brought out the fact that some counties still have improper detention homes for juvenile offenders. According to a ruling of the attorney general it is illegal to detain a juvenile in a jail or any part thereof.

Readings by Mrs. William Weiss added greatly to the interest of the program. Three new members were added to the roll, and a visitor at the meeting was Mrs. Robert Ziegler of Dayton. Brick ice cream, cake and coffee were served when the program was completed.

FOUNDERS' DAY TO BE OBSERVED BY P. T. A.
Dr. Amalie K. Nelson of the adult education department of Ohio State University, will be the chief speaker when Central High Parent-Teachers' Association holds a P. T. A. get-together meeting, celebrating Founders' Day, at Jean B. Elwell auditorium next Monday evening, February 18 at 7:30.

A "birthday cake" to be baked by Mrs. Leroy Wolf, head of the district arts department at Central High, will be decorated with thirty-two candles, one for each year of the existence of the Parent-Teachers' Association. There will be a candle-lighting ceremony as a feature of the evening, this part of the program being in charge of Mrs. L. S. Hyman. While the affair is being sponsored by Central P. T. A. programs will be presented by the four other P. T. A. organizations in the city and reports given by them. Members of the board of education will attend in a body.

ALL DAY MEET BY SOUTH SIDE W. C. T. U.
An interesting all-day meeting was held by members of South Side W. C. T. U. at Trinity M. E. Church Thursday. Discussion of business matters occupied the forenoon, and after a covered dish luncheon at noon, the afternoon session was devoted to presentation of a program.

Mrs. Frank Wolf was in charge of the devotionals. A group of songs by Mrs. Foy Coffelt was greatly enjoyed. Other number on the program: Bootees; reading by Mrs. George Bootees; and short talks by four former presidents of the union, Mrs. Sarah McKee, Mrs. Harry Stiefert, Mrs. John Ary and Mrs. Frank Wolf.

Mrs. C. S. McDaniel gave a report of the meeting of the county executive W. C. T. U. board which was held at the home of Mrs. J. C. Marshall. Twenty women were present for the profitable meeting.

Miss Helen Sayre, N. King St., is home from Cincinnati having completed her student teaching at the University of Cincinnati at the close of the semester.

REHEARSALS OPEN FOR LEAGUE A. C. PLAY

Cast rehearsals for "See You Later," musical comedy production to be given under the auspices of the auxiliary of Joseph E. Foddy Post, American Legion, February 25-26 at City Hall Theater, will begin Friday evening. Miss Quince Jones of the Triangle Productions Co., of Greensboro, N. C., who will direct the play, has arrived in Xenia and is ready to start work on the show.

The production is a three act musical comedy. Most of the cast has been selected, and it appears many well known local amateurs, who have gained fame in former home talent productions. Those expecting to participate are asked to be at post hall in the basement of the court house at 7:30 promptly Friday evening. Ticket sale for the show will start immediately.

ZANETTA COUNCIL SPONSORS CARD PARTY

There were seven tables for 500 and euchre in play at the card party sponsored by Zanetta Council, Daughter of Pocatontos in the new club rooms on W. Main St., Thursday afternoon. Mrs. Clarence Hatfield and Mrs. H. L. Karch were the high score holders for 500 and euchre respectively and were awarded prizes. A refreshment course followed. The committee in charge was composed of: Mrs. Orville Bridgeman, Mrs. Elmer Shoemaker and Mrs. William McKinney.

MRS. HAGLER HOSTESS TO FIVE HUNDRED CLUB

Mrs. Harry Hagler of the Hoop Road received members of her card club for three tables of 500 Tuesday afternoon. Besides the club members there were two guests, Mrs. Harry Metzger of Wilmington and Mrs. Henry Ehrhardt of St. Louis. Mrs. Karl Buck was awarded high score prize and the consolation prize was given to Mrs. Thiedeman. Mrs. Hagler served a luncheon course.

TRINITY CHORUS HAS VALENTINE PARTY

A Valentine box recalled days of their childhood when members of Trinity M. E. Church choir enjoyed a social affair at the church Thursday evening following choir practice. As each person stepped into the social room, a Valentine was deposited in the box at the doorway. Mr. George F. Dodds as postmaster, afterward distributed the Valentines to the persons to whom they were addressed. Sandwiches and coffee were served later.

MUSIC CLUB AT THE STEEL HOME

A talk by Mr. William B. Moorehead on "Some Modern Musical Tendencies," will feature the regular meeting of the Xenia Women's Music Club, to be held at the home of Miss Margaret Steele, next Monday afternoon, February 18. The program will feature modern music and will be in charge of the fifth division with Miss Margaret Steele, leader.

LUTHERAN AID MEETS

Mrs. Edward Nichols was hostess to the Ladies' Aid Society of the Lutheran Church Thursday afternoon at her home. Plans were made at the meeting for serving a chicken supper in the church dining room the evening of February 22. When the business was concluded the guests enjoyed a two course luncheon served by Mrs. Nichols.

Mr. E. J. Meahl, proprietor of the Skidoo restaurant, W. Main St., who has been ill for two months of toxemia following by pneumonia, is able to be out.

Mr. and Mrs. William L. Cardor, Dayton, were the guests Thursday evening of Mrs. Jane Bell, Messenger Apartments.

Paul, consulting engineer and director of the American Society of Civil Engineers, will also appear on the program.

Following the discussion the mid-winter meeting will be adjourned.

DEMENTED SAILOR MANS GHOST SHIP
SEATTLE, Wash., Feb. 15.—The "ghost" ship Alloway was some where in the Pacific off the coast of Alaska today possibly drifting helplessly at the mercy of wind and waves, her crew a demented man.

The vessel has not been sighted since her crew was taken off after a storm forced the Alloway on the rocks.

The seaman, Poley, refused to leave with the rest of the crew in lifeboats. He may have feared to trust his life in the little boats.

The theory has been advanced that Poley thought he could collect salvage money by riding out the storm with the Alloway, but as he was a member of the crew he would be unable to do so under admiralty law.

The crew of the Melyo Maru which ran aground on an islet off the Alaskan coast was taken off by the Nahou Maru, according to a radio dispatch here.

The man, woman or child who bathes and doesn't use Melo to soften the water doesn't know what they are missing. Melo softens hard water. It makes a delightfully sudsy bath. It doesn't let the water form a dirty ring around the tub. That's good news to women who scrub off the dirty ring!

Water softened with Melo is a wonderful cleaner, with or without soap. Melo saves soap, too, from 1/3 to 1/2 the amount ordinarily used. Use it whenever you need soft water. Get it at your grocer's.

POLICE ACCUSE THREE YOUTHS OF BURGLARIES; RECOVER LOOT

Robberies of the J. C. Penney Co. department store and the Huston-Bickett Hardware Co., E. Main St., within the last week, have been cleared up with the arrest of three youths ranging in age from 17 to 23, police announced Friday.

The boys were rounded up at their homes by police late Thursday night and practically all of the loot obtained has been recovered.

Those in custody gave their names as Harold Cyphers, 17; James Burton, 19, and Charles Coates, 23, all of this city.

Cyphers, police said, confessed to breaking into both business houses and is said to have substantiated the statements of the other two boys in custody that they had no part in the actual robberies, but had been involved in the division of the stolen goods.

Cyphers, who was released from Co. department store and the Huston-Bickett Hardware Co., E. Main St., within the last week, have been cleared up with the arrest of three youths ranging in age from 17 to 23, police announced Friday.

"400" Romance on the Rocks

Betrothal Of Miss Mary Little Made Known

MISS Mary Little's engagement to Mr. Eddy William Ecker of Cincinnati, was announced when her sister, Miss Helen Little, entertained a group of eight young women at dinner at the Grey Manor, Day-on, Thursday evening at 7 o'clock. Dinner was followed by the theater, the party seeing George Arliss in "The Merchant of Venice" at the Victoria.

Dinner appointments were in Valentine colors, the table being centered by a low green box of crimson roses, while at each corner the nut basket held a tiny heart.

Y. P. C. U. HOLDS BANQUET AT CEDARVILLE

The possibilities for service offered to young people and a challenge to meet those opportunities, were emphasized by the Rev. R. A. Pollock, D. D., Denver, Col., chairman of the national committee of directors of the Y. P. C. U. when he addressed 200 persons attending the annual banquet of the Y. P. C. U. at Cedarville, Ohio, Thursday evening.

Dr. Pollock urged that as many as found it possible would attend the national Y. P. C. U. convention to be held next July at Mountain Lake Park, Md.

Mr. Allyn Mearns of Columbus, president of Xenia Presbyterial, presided at the banquet program. The group singing was directed by Mr. A. H. Heinz of Columbus, with Heinz. Reports of their year's work were given by officers of the various societies. The banquet was served by the Ladies' Aid Society in the new dining room of the U. P. Church. There were Valentine appointments, red and white hearts and flowers in the Valentine colors being used about the hall and on the tables. The largest delegation, which consisted of twenty-six persons, represented the Second Church, at Springfield, the delegation being accompanied by the pastor, the Rev. W. F. Mahon.

Dr. Pollock is making a tour of the country meeting young people in various places at affairs of the same nature as that in Cedarville. He appears in Pittsburgh Friday, going on to Philadelphia and New York. Churches in the Presbyterial, represented at the banquet are in Columbus, Xenia, Springfield, Reynoldsburg, Cedarville, New California and Sugarcreek.

PRINCIPALS SELECTED FOR "TOM THUMB" WEDDING

Selection of the little folk who will carry the leading parts in the "Tom Thumb" wedding to be given at the First Presbyterian Church the evening of Washington's Birthday, February 22, has been completed.

Little Mary Louise Sheets will be the tiny bride, and her bridegroom will be Charles Sheets. Charles Adams will serve as the officiating clergyman. Acting proudly as a "best man" to the bridegroom will be little Allen Vickers. Tiny Julia Tilford will bear with dignity the part of the bride's mother, and John Bloom will share her importance as the bride's father.

John Funderburg and Mary Lucile Martin will act as the bridesmaids, and little Mary Katherine Lampert will be the bride's proud grandmother. The rest of the cast will be selected later, it is announced. Mrs. James Wilson III, and Mrs. Elbert Babb are in charge of plans for the affair which are progressing favorably. The rest of the cast for the "wedding" will be announced later. The affair is being sponsored by a circle of the Ladies' Aid Society of the church.

NEIGHBORS SAY "GOOD-BYE" TO MANORS.

Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Manor, Van Eaton Road, who expect to move soon to the farm of Judge and Mrs. R. L. Greedy near Trebeins, were surprised by a large number of their friends in the neighborhood in which they have been living, Wednesday night.

The party called at the Manor home, and spent a pleasant evening, featured by the serving of a refreshment course brought by the visitors. Mr. and Mrs. O. W. Lawrence of Belmont, who own the farm on which the Manors have been living, expect to occupy it.

Dean Phillip C. Nash of Antioch College, will be the speaker at the annual banquet of the College Women's Club in Dayton, February 18. His subject will be "The Machinery for Peace." Dean Nash is the newly appointed director of the League of Nations Association.

FOUNDERS' DAY TO BE OBSERVED BY P. T. A.

Dr. Amalie K. Nelson of the adult education department of Ohio State University, will be the chief speaker when Central High Parent-Teachers' Association holds a P. T. A. get-together meeting, celebrating Founders' Day, at Jean R. Elwell auditorium next Monday evening, February 18 at 7:30.

A "birthday cake" to be baked by Mrs. Leroy Wolf, head of the domestic arts department at Central High, will be decorated with thirty-two candles, one for each year of the existence of the Parent-Teachers' Association. There will be a candle-lighting ceremony as a feature of the evening, this part of the program being in charge of Mrs. L. S. Hyman. While the affair is being sponsored by Central P. T. A., the program will be presented by the four other P. T. A. organizations in the city and reports given by them. Members of the board of education will attend in a body.

ALL DAY MEET BY SOUTH SIDE W. C. T. U.

An interesting all-day meeting was held by members of South Side W. C. T. U. at Trinity M. E. Church Thursday. Discussion of business matters occupied the forenoon, and after a covered dish luncheon at noon, the afternoon session was devoted to presentation of a program.

Mrs. Frank Wolf was in charge of the devotionals. A group of songs by Mrs. Foy Coffelt was greatly enjoyed. Other numbers on the program were a paper by Mrs. George Botter; reading by Mrs. R. C. Ledbetter, and short talks by four former presidents of the union, Mrs. Sarah McKee, Mrs. Harry Siefert, Mrs. John Ary and Mrs. Frank Wolf.

Mrs. C. S. McDaniel gave a report of the meeting of the county executive W. C. T. U. board which was held at the home of Mrs. J. C. Marshall. Twenty women were present for the profitable meeting.

Miss Helen Sayre, N. King St., is home from Cincinnati having completed her student teaching at the University of Cincinnati at the close of the semester.

Does his mother realize? Considerate mothers will act at once.

Constipation will blunt the keenest intellect, and many a child is classed as "dull" through bowels failing to act regularly. They need mother's watchful care.

If your child is listless, dull and out-of-sorts, it means that the stomach, liver and bowels are clogged with constipated waste. Just give a dose of "California Fig Syrup," and soon all the sour bile and irritating poison are moved from the bowels, and the child is bright and energetic again. "California Fig Syrup" cleans and regulates the bowels, and insures pure blood, clear complexion, joyous spirits, a keen brain, healthy appetite and promotes study growth.

To be sure that the Fig Syrup you buy is the genuine, look for the name "California" on the package.

REHEARSALS OPEN FOR LEGION AUX. PLAY

Cast rehearsals for "See You Later," musical comedy production to be given under the auspices of the auxiliary of Joseph P. P. Post, American Legion, February 25-26 at City Hall Theater, will begin Friday evening. Miss Quince Jones of the Triangle Productions Co., of Greensboro, N. C., who will direct the play, has arrived in Xenia and is ready to start work on the show.

The production is a three act musical comedy. Most of the cast has been selected, and in it appear many well known local amateurs, who have gained fame in former home talent productions. Those expecting to participate are asked to be at post hall in the basement of the court house at 7:30 promptly Friday evening. Ticket sale for the show will start immediately.

ZANETTA COUNCIL SPONSORS CARD PARTY

There were seven tables for 500 and euche in play at the card party sponsored by Zanetta Council, Daughter of Pocatohos in the council's new club rooms on W. Main St., Thursday afternoon. Mrs. Clarence Hatfield and Mrs. H. L. Karch were the high score holders for 500 and euche respectively and were awarded prizes. A refreshment course followed. The committee in charge was composed of: Mrs. Harry Metzger of Wilmington and Mrs. Henry Elhardt of St. Louis. Mrs. Karl Buck was awarded high score prize and the consolation prize was given to Mrs. Thelma Dean. Mrs. Hagler served a luncheon course.

MRS. HAGLER HOSTESS TO FIVE HUNDRED CLUB

Mrs. Harry Hagler of the Hoop Road received members of her card club for three tables of 500 Tuesday afternoon. Besides the club members there were two guests, Mrs. Harry Metzger of Wilmington and Mrs. Henry Elhardt of St. Louis. Mrs. Karl Buck was awarded high score prize and the consolation prize was given to Mrs. Thelma Dean. Mrs. Hagler served a luncheon course.

TRINITY CHORUS HAS VALENTINE PARTY

A Valentine box recalled days of their childhood when members of Trinity M. E. Church choir enjoyed a social affair at the church Thursday evening following choir practice. As each person stepped into the social room, a Valentine was deposited in the box at the door. Mr. George F. Doudas as postmaster, afterward distributed the Valentines to the persons to whom they were addressed. Sandwiches and coffee were served later.

MUSIC CLUB AT THE STEELE HOME

Talk by Mr. William B. Moorehead, "Some Modern Musical Tendencies," will feature the regular meeting of the Xenia Woman's Music Club, to be held at the home of Miss Margaret Steele, next Monday afternoon, February 18. The program will feature modern music and will be in charge of the fifth division with Miss Margaret Steele, leader.

LUTHERAN AID MEETS

Mrs. Edward Nichols was hostess to the Ladies' Aid Society of the Lutheran Church Thursday afternoon at her home. Following the discussion the mid-winter meeting will be adjourned.

SEATTLE, Wash., Feb. 15.—The "ghost" ship Alloway was some 100 miles in the Pacific off the coast of Alaska today, possibly drifting helplessly at the mercy of wind and waves, her crew a demented man.

The vessel has not been sighted since her crew was taken off after a storm forced the Alloway on the rocks.

The seaman, Poley, refused to leave with the rest of the crew in lifeboats. He may have feared to trust his life in the little boats.

The theory has been advanced that Poley thought he could advance salvage money by riding off the storm with the Alloway, but as he was a member of the crew he would be unable to do so under admiralty law.

The crew of the Melyo Maru which ran aground on an islet off the Alaskan coast was taken off by the Naahou Maru, according to a radio dispatch here.

POLICE ACCUSE THREE YOUTHS OF BURGLARIES; RECOVER LOOT

Robberies of the J. C. Penney Co. department store and the Hudson-Bickell Hardware Co., E. Main St., within the last week, have been cleared up with the arrest of three youths ranging in age from 17 to 23, police announced Friday.

The boys were rounded up at their homes by police late Thursday night and practically all of the loot obtained has been recovered.

Those in custody gave their names as Harold Cyphers, 17; James Burton, 19, and Charles Coates, 23, all of this city.

Cyphers, police said, confessed to breaking into both business houses and is said to have substantiated the statements of the other two boys in custody that they had no part in the actual robberies but had been involved in the division of the stolen goods.

Cyphers, who was released from the state reformatory only two weeks ago, is a minor and will be turned over to Juvenile Court. Burton and Coates will be arraigned before Mayor Karl R. Babb Saturday morning on probable charges of receiving stolen property.

The robbery of the hardware store, which occurred early Wednesday night, netted three revolvers, an automatic, two watches and several flashlights. A suit of clothes, a lumber jacket, two pairs of shoes, a cap and other articles were stolen from the Penney store a week ago.

Police uncovered most of the loot at the homes of the three boys. They had divided the spoils among themselves, it was said. Patrolmen Charles Thompson and J. E. Craig made the arrests.

Commissioner Slices Salary of Mayor; Cuts Amount to $1,200

Salary of Mayor Karl R. Babb is sliced from $1,550 a year to $1,200 under provisions of an ordinance unanimously passed by city Commission Thursday night.

The ordinance was passed on its second reading and becomes effective in thirty days, the earliest period allowed by law.

Reduction of the mayor's salary brought to an end a controversy which began six weeks ago and was made a result of the willingness of the newly appointed mayor to receive a decrease from the amount formerly received by John W. Prugh, former mayor of the city.

The ordinance was introduced two weeks ago by Commissioner E. E. Lighthizer and in its original form provided for a reduction in the salary to $550 a year.

At Thursday night's meeting CONVICTED SLAYER SCHEDULED TO DIE

COLUMBUS, O., Feb. 15.—Un- less granted an eleventh hour reprieve, Everett Koon, 23, will die in the electric chair at the state penitentiary tonight for the murder of Henry Poos, aged and reputed wealthy Marion County resident.

Koon was removed to the death cell today and a special guard placed over him.

The convicted slayer looks upon his fate indifferently. "I'm not afraid to die," he said. Asked how he felt, Koon replied with a strained bravado, "I'm feeling fine in health and spirit."

Poos was killed during an attempted robbery at his home in Marion County, May 29, 1928.

The doomed man is the son of Isaac Koon of Nelsonville, who served a sentence for murder in the state penitentiary in 1907.

Koon himself has twice been convicted of murder.

SCOUT BANQUET TO BE FRIDAY EVENING

Arrangements have been completed for the first annual "Father and Son" banquet, a feature of the second Boy Scout Council of Honor ceremony at Xenia Central High School Friday night.

E. J. Carmon, Springfield, president of Tecumseh Area Scout Executive, H. O. Forz, Springfield, and Homer T. Gratz, field executive, will be honor guests and principal speakers at the banquet.

The Scout Council of Honor, sponsored by the Xenia Scout Council, will convene at the high school at 8 p. m. A three-reel motion picture film, "The Call," will be shown.

The Court of Honor exercises are open to the public and the committee in charge is anticipating a good attendance.

DARDING FARM

On Saturday, February 16 at 10:00 a. m. at Court House, Xenia, the splendid 125 acre farm home of Perry and Lizzie Darding in Beaver Creek Township, Greene County, about four miles north of Alpha, will be sold by the sheriff at auction. Call Sheriff's Office for particulars.

Bathing and Melo just go together

The man, woman or child who bathes and doesn't use Melo to soften the water doesn't know what they are missing. Melo softens hard water. It makes a delightfully sudsy bath. It doesn't let the water form a dirty ring around the tub. That's good news to women who scrub off the dirty ring!

Water softened with Melo is a wonderful cleaner, with or without soap. Melo saves soap, too, from 1/2 to 1/2 the amount ordinarily used. It makes soap much more effective. Use it wherever you need soft water. Get it at your grocer's.

BIBLE THOUGHT FOR TODAY

THE TRULY BLESSED—Blessed is the man that trusteth the Lord, and whose hope the Lord is. For he shall be as a tree planted by the waters, and that spreadeth out her roots by the river, and shall not see when heat cometh, but her leaf shall be green; and shall not be careful in the year of drought, neither shall cease from yielding fruit.—Jeremiah 17:7, 8.

MIRACLES OF POWER

The day when we will live in electrified homes and work in electrified offices, where everything is done by the touch of a button, is envisioned by the world's great scientists as almost at hand.

The secret is boundless power, which is freeing man from manual labor and is awaiting in unlimited measure to enlarge his horizon as soon as he calls for it.

Some of the miracles waiting to be performed are described by some of the outstanding scientists of the world in an article by Frank Parker Stockbridge in McClure's magazine. The writer has obtained a symposium from such men as Willis R. Whitney, director of research of the General Electric Co., E. F. Alexanderson, radio scientist and pioneer of television, and others equally prominent, including those of Germany and France.

Some of their predictions are startling. The home of the future is pictured as all-electric—heated by electricity in winter, cooled by it in summer, flooded with healthful ultra-violet rays through fused quartz windows, which never need be opened, because the ventilation is by electricity and the temperature constant. Power will do all the cooking, cleaning, washing, ironing, sewing and other household tasks, merely by the touch of a button.

Our offices will be similar and we will travel to them in comfort and swiftly, by super-powered airplanes through the smokeless air, or motor over faultless boulevards. Twenty years ago, the symposium points out, anyone would have been thought crazy who predicted the things we are doing today, and perhaps 20 years from now, the present predictions will sound like memories of the Stone Age.

The secret of all our progress, the scientists agree, is boundless power, and they make the comforting prediction that the supply of power is unlimited. The United States has available for energy probably 28,000,000 horsepower in water resources, of which we are now using 12,000,000. When that is gone, there is enough coal for thousands of years. Then we will harness the moon through the tides, bore to the core of the earth for heat, and still there is boundless oil, alcohol and other liquid fuels, and probably other resources as yet undreamed of.

About the only names not noticed on the lists of those Hoover was said to be considering as cabinet members were Harry Daugherty and Albert B. Fall.

Before Einstein reached his theory that the earth and all are only an optical illusion, he must have spent considerable time studying the habits and manners of back seat drivers.

Your BROADWAY And Mine

By Walter Winchell

NEW YORK.—A celebrated comedian furnished the public with an account of the origin of Joe Miller's jokes. He stated that Joe Miller, who fathered our jokes for fifty years never uttered a jest in his life. Though an excellent comedian on the stage, he was the most taciturn man alive. Almost every afternoon he frequented a saloon in London patronized chiefly by tradesmen of the neighborhood, who, because of Joe's imperturbable gravity, always derisively tagged what good and bad gags they had heard onto him.

After his passing having left his family unprovided for, advantage was taken of this badinage. A well-known dramatist of the day collected all the stray jokes credited or not to Miller and put them between covers. The royalties went to Miller's kin. Thus to this day, the man who never cracked a joke in his life has been the reputed author of most of them.

NICE PEOPLE

When one of the current musical flops was in the provinces, the professionally jealous principals carried their bitter off-stage quarrels on stage. The leading lady quit, however, before the show got to New York, but it is related how they yipped at each other.

In the script she was supposed to say to him: "Well, dear, I'm going to my room. Where are you going?" He was supposed to retort: "Just across the way, honey. I'll be right home."

When the piece opened, however, the temperamental leads recited their lines before an amazed audience in this style: She: "Well, dear, I'm going to my room. Where are you going?" He: "What difference does it make to you?" "It makes no difference to me if you choke you rat!" she retorted, as she slapped him.

DRAMA

For the last eight years she has appeared as the femme love interest in musical shows. Invariably, the second-act finale revealed her walking to the stage altar, and she possessed great charm.

CHARGING IT

Nobody gets very far in the way of thrift or a decent savings account until he learns that it costs just as much to charge an article as it does to pay cash for it. It hurts to take the money out of your pocket and buy a book or a suit of clothes. Charging it seems to reduce the pain. But the amount is just the same, and the first of next month may be no easier time to pay than now. If you find yourself getting too extravagant, put yourself on a cash and carry basis for awhile.

SAVINGS

The question of money saving properly demands the serious thought of every man or woman who is earning anything. Many have a superficial or inaccurate idea about savings. They think only of money hidden in the house or deposited in a bank. If they carry life insurance they speak of the "expense" of saving, the "expense" of keeping up premiums. They would not talk of the expense of a bank account. Life insurance is one of the soundest and most effective methods of saving money. You do not have to wait until you are dead to benefit by modern insurance policies. There are many ways in which you can make insurance pay you well while you live and have your health. And it pays especially well when you don't have your health.

Others speak of the "expense" of buying a house or a piece of property. A house may be a rich investment. Savings is a subject which demands thought and understanding. It demands analysis. Because somebody does not save the way you save, does not mean he is a spendthrift. He may just be giving more thought to it than you are.

INTEGRITY IN AMERICAN PUBLIC AFFAIRS STRESSED

By ARTHUR ERNEST MORGAN, President, Antioch College. (Arthur Ernest Morgan was born at Cincinnati, O., June 20, 1878. He obtained a high school education and began a private practice in engineering at St. Cloud, Minn. He was employed by the government as a supervising engineer for two years and then became president of the Dayton-Morgan Engineering company. His services have been engaged numerous times by the government and he has constructed 75 water control projects. Since 1922 he has been president of Antioch college. He has written several books on engineering subjects. His home is in Yellow Springs, O.)

The standards of American boys and girls do not originate mysteriously or by accident, and are not created by original thinking. Experience and observation teach young people what are the actual standards of their elders, and they imitate men and women they most admire. If they see cynicism accepted by leaders in public and private life, no preaching will convince them that honesty is the best policy. Our youth is a mirror in which the older generation sees itself truly reflected.

In the recent political campaign there were many conflicting issues. But the American public had one dominant concern—integrity in public affairs. Each party was compelled to nominate its best man. The strength of each candidate was public confidence in his integrity, and the weakness of each was his proximity to sinister influences.

The people sought a leader who could be implicitly trusted. Political organizations fought for votes, but seem to have changed very few. To an unusual degree, votes of both candidates were votes of confidence in personal virtues and abilities. Now that the campaign is over, many professional politicians are seeking rewards for their party services. Many of these men never have been and are not now personal admirers of the successful candidate. They took him on commission, and worked for him in order to maintain their political positions.

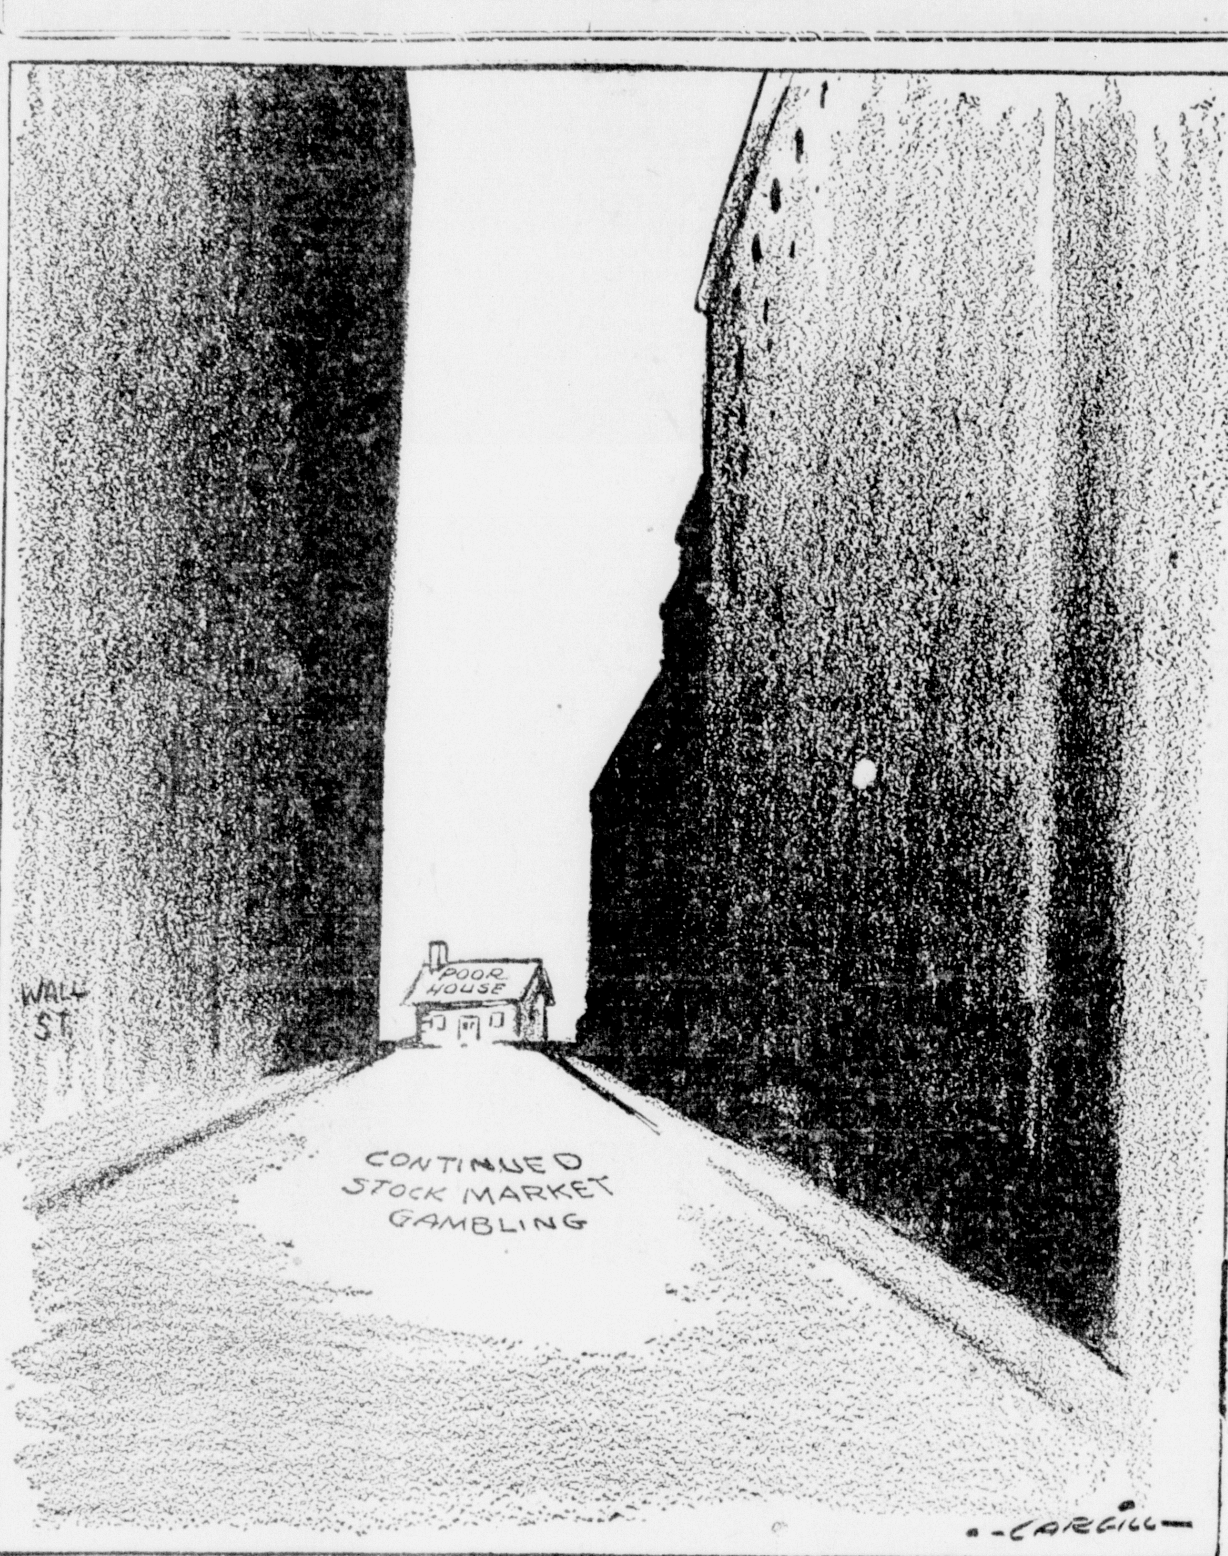

The friends of trust and honesty among his admirers as they have, and then rode with him to victory. His friends are the American people who craved dependable leadership, and who compelled his acceptance by the party organization.

One large fact stands out clearly. The nomination and election of Herbert Hoover were due not chiefly to the astuteness of professional politicians in winning his votes, but to the confidence of the American public in his integrity and capacity. Mr. Hoover owes his loyalty to the American people and not to political organizations.

How to Achieve Beauty

BY MME. HELENA RUBINSTEIN

Hundreds and hundreds of years ago beautiful women were caring for their feet in a way which would seem extraordinary to our modern careless young sisterhood. Cleopatra's hennaed toes have come in for their share of glory in ancient beauty history. The feet were quite as visible under the style of standards of ancient fashions as are the hands today, and women were just as particular about insuring their beauty as we of a more modern world are about our hands and our faces. Since we don't go around in barefoot sandals it is not quite as essential to good appearance to have our toes neatly pedicured, tinted and altogether lovely, but to the woman who takes a sincere and personal pride in her appearance, there is a feeling of complete loveliness in knowing that every single detail of her grooming is just as it should be.

I know it sounds quite a little extreme, and yet you would be surprised to know how awfully well you will feel if you are well groomed from the crown of your head to the literal tips of your toes. Of course to the modern young lady I must present further arguments than just mere good looks to put across my idea of the importance of pedicure. From an economical standpoint you will probably find out, as I have, that to give your toe nails constant care will prevent them from wearing out the toes of your stockings. Long or unkempt toe nails cause more "runs" than anything else I know of.

We have to take the question of comfort into consideration, too. Neatly-clipped nails seem to fit much more comfortably inside modern shoe than those of an awkward and ungainly length. And ingrowing toe nails are largely a matter of improper foot care. You don't need very special implements for satisfactory pedicure. A nail clipper is a pleasant thing to possess. Short stout pedicure scissors are quite essential. A good strong file has a distinct place in this equipment, and then for the corrective implements of pedicure, we must not neglect pumice stone, corn plasters and a softening, lubricating cream.

Begin your pedicure process by bathing the feet in good hot water in which a little alum has been dissolved. This helps to harden the tissues and make them less susceptible to callouses, etc. Next rub a little cream on your hands and massage it well into the soles and toes of your feet. Do not neglect the little spaces in between the toes, for many a case of sore feet has had its base in the sensitive tissues between the toes. Next, file or cut your toe nails to the required length. Be sure to finish them off smoothly. If you have callouses rub a little pumice stone over them until they are smooth and down. Be sure to use cream around the base of the nails so that the cuticle doesn't become hard or broken.

Behind the Scenes in Washington

By CHARLES P. STEWART

WASHINGTON.—Police have been doing their best lately to clean up Washington, in readiness for next month's presidential inauguration. Among others, four gamblers were caught and convicted. Mercy, in moderation, was offered them by Chief Justice Mc Coy of the District of Columbia supreme court, if they would snitch wholesale on Washington gamblers and gamblers. The hardened culprits preferred prison to squaring, and each got three years of the former.

To the local underworld's perverted sense of honor this reticence on the quarter's part appeared very noble. It was resolved to pull off a benefit performance in one of the capital theaters, to help their respective families.

Anyway, the wife of one of the captives had been evicted from her home, with her six small children, and the seven of them were camped on a mattress in the street in 18 or 20-degree weather, when some tough eggs who knew the woman's husband rescued and sheltered them.

The benefit was a corking success. Actors and actresses of every degree of excellence, musicians, dancers, vaudeville acts, all sorts and both sexes gave their services gratis until there was no room for more on the program.

Honest to gosh dear reader, in the simplicity of my heart, I would have taken the other side in this debate, until I heard the contrary arguments. Now I see I was wrong.

Household Hints

BY MRS. MARY MORTON

MENU HINT
BREAKFAST
Whole Wheat Cereal, Top Milk
Buttered Toast, Strawberry Jam
Cocoa for Children
Coffee for Adults
LUNCHEON
Escalloped Potatoes
Sandwiches of Whole Wheat Bread
Mashed Carrots and Celery
Scalloped Apples, Cream
Egg Nog
DINNER
Spanish Rice, Lettuce, Caviar Salad
Parker House Rolls, Butter
Rhubarb-Orange Conserve
Sponge Cake, Fruit Gelatin
Milk, Coffee

This menu was planned for a family of three, so double amounts if your family is six. The luncheon is a little heartier than usual, as the man of the house comes home to eat at noon, but prefers dinner at night.

Today's Recipes
Lettuce Caviar Salad—Take lettuce leaves and roll them as for jelly roll and then cut off with scissors. Serve with mayonnaise made of lemon juice, sour cream, beaten, pinch of salt and one teaspoon sugar. Decorate with paprika.

Scalloped Apples—Three apples cut in eighths, one-half cup sugar, one-fourth teaspoon cinnamon, one-fourth teaspoon nutmeg, one-half cup water, one-half lemon juice and one cup bread crumbs, two tablespoons butter. Cook apples with the sugar, cinnamon, nutmeg and water, until soft; add lemon juice and rind. Arrange in layers in a buttered baking dish, using one-third of the crumbs on the bottom, then one-half the apple sauce, then the crumbs, etc., leaving some crumbs to place on top. Dot with small pieces of butter and bake in moderate oven until nicely browned on top.

Suggestions
Gloves
Gloves are being sold in sets of three pairs, one for winter sports, one of heavy pigskin for motor and one of capeskin, in a tailored style, for wear with a sports suit. Other sets include two pairs of afternoon gloves and a pair for a tailored or sports suit, or vice versa.

These words on the menu mean:
Chartreuse—Meat, vegetables, etc., hidden in a center of rice or crumbs.
Chaufroid—Means hot-cold. A sauce jellied, used to cover meat, fish.
Creole—With tomatoes.
De, d'—Of.
Entree—Dish served before main course of dinner; often made of fancy meats, fish, etc.
Espagnole—Spanish, a brown sauce with vegetable flavorings.

The Children Will Like This One
Chocolate Pudding
(Mrs. Mary Morton's Daily Tested Recipe)
One teaspoon melted butter, one-half cup granulated sugar, one egg, one-half cup sweet milk, one cup flour, one teaspoon baking powder, one square chocolate, melted. Steam one hour. Use whipped cream for sauce. Serves three.

Diet and Health

BY LULU HUNT PETERS, M.D., AUTHOR OF "DIET AND HEALTH" AND "DIET FOR CHILDREN"

"For several years I have been having complexion troubles and somehow I can't understand why. My diet seems to be quite well balanced and my general hygiene is good. Furthermore, I rarely have indigestion or constipation. My skin is of the oily type. Do you think that may be the cause? I have tried cleansing my face nightly with cold cream, but it seems to give me no results. E."

During adolescence the oil glands of the skin are frequently over-active. Pimples in all degrees may result (acne). You shouldn't use cold cream on your face at all as it is oily. E. Scrub twice daily with soap and hot water, followed by cold, and then apply a glycerine solution. You can put a few drops of the pure glycerine in your palm and apply it on your face while it is still wet. Glycerine must be very diluted to be effective.

The diet should be low in starches and sugars and fatty foods. You are fortunate not to have acne. We have an article on the subject if you want it.

"After reading both your books on diet and health, I have reduced 43 pounds in three months. I still have about 20 pounds to lose and I hope to lose the average, it means a fine and look very much better. 'I have lost as high as four pounds a week and I did not feel so well then, for I would get cold and weak and I looked bad. But now I am losing about one and one-half pounds a week and feel stronger and better. I walk about two miles three times a week and find it important, along with the exercises you advise. I eat almost everything, but take only small helpings. At noon, I take some raw vegetables or fruit. We have an early supper, at 4 p. m., and I don't eat anything after that, and I don't feel hungry, either. 'MRS. S."

When one reduces as high as four pounds a week, there must be too great limitation of the essentials of the diet, and naturally one becomes under par. However, it is a good plan in the beginning—not too necessary—to go on a liquid or semi-liquid diet, not over 500 to 800 calories a day, for three or four days, in order to shrink the stomach and clean up the intestinal tract. During this period, from five to ten pounds may be lost, but after

Living and Loving

BY MRS. VIRGINIA LEE

If anyone thinks that women have gained their rights they should take notice of the difference in the way the daughter of the house is treated in many households and the treatment of the boys. Boys usually start going out with their pals in their early teens and it is taken for granted that they are to have some liberty of action. But so often when a girl gets to the same age the parents think that only by suppressing all her natural instincts can they make a good girl of her. She must not have boy friends, and even girl friends are often denied her.

Now, I'm not one of those who think children should rule the roost. I believe in young people showing respect and consideration for their parents, in mutual respect and consideration, in fact. But mothers and fathers should realize that nature made young people interested in one another, and repression of that natural interest does harm, not good. If you want your girl to be a boy crazy you are helping nature by forbidding her to bring her friends to the house and refusing to let her go with them in a happy, natural way.

I cannot print the letter which caused this outburst, but what am I to say to a girl of 15 whose letter is unusually intelligent, who helps her father after school and thinks the world of both parents, but who is hardly permitted to have girl friends and never allowed even to go to school entertainments.

DESPERATE CHILD: How about your brothers, dear? Couldn't they be interested to see your point and talk to your parents? It seems such a pity that you should be missing the good times you should have in school with your young friends. If not your brothers, isn't there some one else that your parents admire who could take your part and intercede for you? Don't be discouraged. Keep on trying to make them see the point.

DEAR VIRGINIA LEE: I would be pleased if you will aid me. I met a young girl at a dance that I liked immensely. She seemed to care for me, but in calling her up she refused to go out with me. Please advise me how to win this girl's love. "PUZZLED."

She may have had another engagement so that she couldn't accept the invitation at the time. Puzzled Try again, and if she still refuses, all you can do is to let her go and find another friend.

BIBLE THOUGHT FOR TODAY

THE TRULY BLESSED—Blessed is the man trusteth the Lord, and whose hope the Lord is. For he shall be as a tree planted by the waters, and that spreadeth out her roots by the river, and shall not see when heat cometh, but her leaf shall be green; and shall not be careful in the year of drought, neither shall cease from yielding fruit.—Jeremiah 17:7, 8.

MIRACLES OF POWER

The day when we will live in electrified homes and work in electrified offices, where everything is done by the touch of a button, is envisioned by the world's great scientists as almost at hand.

The secret is boundless power, which is freeing man from manual labor and is awaiting in unlimited measure to enlarge his horizon as soon as he calls for it.

Some of the miracles waiting to be performed are described by some of the outstanding scientists of the world in an article by Frank Parker Stockbridge in McClure's magazine. The writer has obtained a symposium from such men as Willis R. Whitney, director of research of the General Electric Co., E. F. Alexanderson, radio scientist and pioneer of television, and others equally prominent, including those of Germany and France.

Some of their predictions are startling. The home of the future is pictured as all-electric—heated by electricity in winter, cooled by it in summer, flooded with healthful ultra-violet rays through fused quartz windows, which never need be opened, because the ventilation is by electricity and the temperature constant. Power will do all the cooking, cleaning, washing, ironing, sewing and other household tasks, merely by the touch of a button.

Our offices will be similar and we will travel to them in comfort and swiftly, by super-powered airplanes through the smokeless air, or motor over faultless boulevards. Twenty years ago, the symposium points out, anyone would have been thought crazy who predicted the things we are doing today, and perhaps 20 years from now, the present predictions will sound like memories of the Stone Age.

The secret of all our progress, the scientists agree, is boundless power, and they make the comforting prediction that the supply of power is unlimited. The United States has available for energy probably 28,000,000 horsepower in water resources, of which we are now using 12,000,000. When that is gone, there is enough coal for thousands of years. Then we will harness the moon through the tides, bore to the core of the earth for heat, and still there is boundless oil, alcohol and other liquid fuels, and probably other resources as yet undreamed of.

About the only names not noticed on the lists of those Hoover was said to be considering as cabinet members were Harry Daugherty and Albert B. Fall.

Lettuce Cured Salad—Take lettuce leaves and roll them as for jelly roll and then cut off with shears. Serve with mayonnaise made of lemon juice, sour cream beaten, pinch of salt and one teaspoon sugar. Decorate with paprika.

Scalloped Apples—Three apples cut in eighths, one-half cup sugar, one-fourth teaspoon cinnamon, one-fourth teaspoon nutmeg, one-half cup water, one-half lemon, juice and rind, two cups bread crumbs, two tablespoons butter. Cook apples with the sugar, cinnamon, nutmeg and water, until soft; add lemon juice and rind. Arrange in layers in a buttered baking dish, using one-third of the crumbs on the bottom, then one-half the apple sauce, then the crumbs, etc., leaving some crumbs to place on top. Dot with small pieces of butter and bake in moderate oven until nicely browned on top.

Suggestions

Gloves

Gloves are being sold in sets of three pairs, one for winter sports, one of heavy nixskin for motor and one of capeskin, in a tailored style, for wear with a sports suit. Other sets include two pairs of afternoon gloves and a pair for a tailored or sports suit, or vice versa.

These words on the menu mean: Chartreuse—Meat, vegetables, etc., hidden in a center of rice or crumbs. Chaud-froid—Means hot-cold. A sauce jellied, used to cover meat, fish. Creole—With tomatoes. De, d'—Of. Entree—Dish served before main course of dinner; often made of fancy meats, fish, etc. Espagnole—Spanish, a brown sauce with vegetable flavorings.

The Children Will Like This One Chocolate Pudding (Mrs. Mary Morton's Daily Tested Recipe)

One teaspoon melted butter one-half cup granulated sugar, one egg, one-half cup sweet milk, one cup flour, one teaspoon baking powder, one square chocolate, a pinch of salt, one hour cook in a double boiler. Use whipped cream for sauce. Serves three.

Honest to gosh, dear reader, in the simplicity of my heart, I would have taken the other side in this debate, until I heard the contrary arguments.

No! I see I was wrong.

Diet and Health

BY LULU HUNT PETERS, M.D., AUTHOR OF "DIET AND HEALTH" AND "DIET FOR CHILDREN"

"For several years I have been having complexion troubles and somehow I can't understand why. My diet seems to be quite well balanced and my general hygiene is good. Furthermore, I rarely have indigestion or constipation. My skin is of the oily type. Do you think that may be the cause? I have tried cleansing my face nightly with cold cream, but it seems to give me no results. E."

During adolescence the oil glands of the skin are frequently over-active. Pimples in all degrees may result (acne). You shouldn't use cold cream on your face at all, as it is oily. E. Scrub twice daily with soap and hot water, followed by cold, and then apply a glycerine solution. You can put a few drops of the pure glycerine in your palm and apply it on your face while it is still wet. Glycerine must be very diluted to be effective.

The diet should be low in starches and sugars and fatty foods. You are fortunate not to have acne. We have an article on the subject if you want it.

"After reading both your books on diet and health, I have reduced 43 pounds in three months. I still have about 20 pounds to lose and I hope to be lost or the average, it means a fine and look very much better."

"I have lost as high as four pounds a week and I did not feel so well then, for I would get cold and weak and I looked bad. But now I am losing about one and one-half pounds a week and feel stronger and better. I walk about two miles three times a week and find it important, along with the exercises you advise. I eat almost everything, but take only small helpings. At noon, I take some raw vegetables or fruit. We have an early supper, at 4 p. m., and I don't eat anything after that, and I don't feel hungry either, and."

"MRS. S."

When one reduces as high as four pounds a week, there must be too great limitation of the essentials of the diet, and naturally one becomes under par. However, it is a good plan in the beginning—but not necessary—to go on a liquid or semi-liquid diet, not over 500 to 800 calories a day, for three or four days, in order to shrink the stomach and clean up the intestinal tract. During this period, from five to ten pounds may be lost, but after

Living and Loving

BY MRS. VIRGINIA LEE

If anyone thinks that women have gained their rights they should take notice of the difference in the way the daughter of the house is treated in many households and the treatment of the boys. Boys usually start going out with their pals in their early teens and it is taken for granted that they are to have some liberty of action. But so often when a girl gets to the age when the parents think that only by suppressing all her natural instincts can they make a good girl of her. She must not have boy friends, and even girl friends are often denied her.

Now, I'm not one of these who think children should rule the roost. I believe in young people showing respect and consideration for their parents—in mutual respect and consideration, in fact. But mothers and fathers should realize that nature made young people interested in one another, and repression of that natural interest does harm, not good. If you want your girl to be a good girl, you are helping her to do her duty by her friends, and even girl friends are often denied her.

If you want your girl to be a good girl, you are helping her to do her duty by her friends, and even girl friends are often denied her.

"DEAR VIRGINIA LEE: How about your brother, dear? Could you be interested to see your point and talk to your parents? It seems such a pity that you should be missing the good times you should have in school and with your young friends. If not your brothers, isn't there some one else that your parents advise who could take your part and intercede for you? Don't be discouraged. Keep on trying to make them see the point."

"I would be pleased if you will aid me. I met a young girl at a dance that I liked immensely. She seemed to care for me, but in calling her up she refused to go out with me. Please advise me how to win this girl's love."

"PUZZLED"

She may have had another engagement so that she couldn't accept the invitation at the time. Puzzled. Try again, and if she still refuses, all you can do is to let her go and find another friend.

Peter's Adventures

BY MRS. VIRGINIA LEE

One Lone Drummer Makes Noise Enough For a Band

"A beat! A beat! Father is drumming again," cheered Fear-No-Harm shrilly, but now it made no difference. Papa Partridge was making such a racket himself that he would have heard nothing had his whole brood started chattering at once.

"Drum! Drum! Drum, drum, drum!" Now muffled, now loud, the drumroll rolled out so fast and so furious that it seemed as if a whole company must be at work instead of just one bird.

"How does he do it?" asked Peter, but Little Fear-No-Harm shook his head and chuckled.

"I'll never tell," said he. "That is a family secret—one of the first a Little Partridge learns. If told, others would be as wise as we, and we don't want any one else to learn the trick—not even one of our bird friends—they might try to copy us, and we shouldn't like that at all."

"I'll tell you this much, though," Papa Partridge gives that drumroll in one of three ways. Maybe he does it by beating the log on which he is standing—see how he bends down upon it—or perhaps he claps his wings together over his head or just pounds himself upon the sides. There—now you have three guesses! Take your choice.

"But Father is through drumming now. See how his wings are drooping slowly into place. And listen. The breeze is hurrying off to ride the last notes as the woods."

Peter had been trying his best to solve the puzzle—how

GRANCE PRESENTS PLAY THURSDAY AT CAESARCREEK HIGH

Caesarcreek Grange presented a three-act comedy entitled "Kentucky Belle" to a packed house at Caesarcreek High School Thursday night.

The play was interesting, the lines were catchy and the characters performed their parts well.

Mr. and Mrs. Elton Haines, who carried the leading roles as "John Cason Gordon" and "Miss Leibel Douglas," gave especially fine portrayals. Mrs. Emory Oglesbee, as "Cindy," the colored maid, and "Henry," her lover, played by Lindsey Linton, took care of the comedy parts in capable fashion.

Other characters were: "Miss Maria Douglas," Grace Middleton; "Marie Van Harlingen," Mary Wilson; "Colonel William McMillen," J. B. Mason; "Dr. Blake," Marion Middleton; "Miss Madden," a nurse, Mary Jones; "Mrs. Gordon," Mrs. Charles Lewis; "Miss Gordon," Mrs. Irene Peterson; telephone linemen, Charles Lewis, Emory Oglesbee, William Miller and Dennis Pagett; young men and girls of the village, Lucile Stroup, Helen Conklin, Guy Gravitt and Charles Pickering.

Specialty numbers were introduced during the performance by Barbara Jean Mason and chorus of high school girls and a men's quartet.

The play was produced under the direction of Mrs. J. B. Mason. Music during the intermission was furnished by the high school orchestra.

Bowling

Lead of the Greene County Lumber Co., was reduced to seven pins games when the league leaders slumped to the extent of losing two out of three games to the Lehigh Chevrolet Co. in a Recreation League bowling match Thursday night.

Cox topped the winners with a series of 554. Brickel was best for the champions with a 598 total. Box score:

PATTERSON'S PETS PLAY NEW ANTIOCH

Central Junior High School's basketball team, its season's record marred by only one defeat, will meet New Antioch Juniors in a return game on the court of the small Clinton County school Friday night.

About a month ago Central Juniors nosed out New Antioch 18 to 16 in an exciting game here. At that time the Dayton twins, who have since transferred their residence to Greene County and are members of the Central Junior High basketball team, played for New Antioch.

Saturday night Central Juniors will have to look to their laurels, meeting the strong McClain Junior High team of Greenfield at Central gym as a preliminary to the finals of the city grade school basketball league. McClain Juniors have won eight out of nine games this year.

GIVEN PARDON

COLUMBUS, O., Feb. 15.—Governor Myers Y. Cooper has issued a pardon to Roy Hampton of Lorain County, serving time in the Toledo workhouse on charges of transporting liquor. Hampton was arrested in Huron County Sept. 1928 and was fined $500 and costs. He was sent to the workhouse in lieu of payment. He was pardoned because his mother is seriously ill and his wife and four children are destitute.

Softball Association Organized For 1929

NAME COMMISSION TO REGULATE SPORT HERE; TWO LEAGUES

Eligibility Lists Must Be Ready By Next March 30.

ORGANIZATION of the Xenia Softball Association for 1929 was perfected at a called meeting of representatives of the various organizations and groups expecting to sponsor teams this summer, Thursday night.

Ten teams will be organized and formed into two leagues to be known as the National and American Leagues, as was the case last summer, it was decided.

A commission of three distinguished men, composed of Ohmer Tate as chairman, E. E. Boxwell and Fred Baldwin, not connected in any way with teams that will play, was elected.

In organizing the various softball teams in the two leagues, preference will be given teams that played last year in case more than ten teams make application to play.

Eligibility lists of all teams expecting to put a team in the field must be submitted by March 30. The lists will be limited to a maximum of fifteen players unless a team is being entered by an organization or club. In that event the entire membership of the organization is eligible to compete.

The duties of the newly-elected commission will include adoption of playing rules for both leagues, authority to decide upon eligibility questions, arranging for umpires, passing on the type of equipment to be used in the games, deciding upon the amount of the fee to be paid by each team, scheduling of postponed games, having the grounds kept in good condition, serving as a board of arbitration on any mooted questions, arranging schedules for each league and deciding in which league the various teams belong.

It is also announced that all persons interested in the sport whose names are not contained in any of the eligibility lists that are submitted, should get in touch with the commission. An effort will be made to place them on some team.

The meeting Thursday night, called by The Downtown Country Club, which has been playing a prominent part in organization of the pastime in Xenia, was well attended.

NUTRITION EXPERT SPEAKS TO LEADERS

Township leaders of the nutrition project "Meat and Meat-Like Dishes" met with Mrs. Edith McEwen, nutrition specialist of Ohio State University, at the home of County Agent E. A. Drake, 109 S. Monroe St., Wednesday to receive the second lesson of the project.

The preparation, serving and place of meat in the diet, were discussed and demonstrated. Marks of good meat, nutritive value and care and cooking of meats were discussed.

Township leaders will give this work to leaders in their respective townships, who will in turn give it to local groups. Persons interested should communicate with their leaders or with the county agent.

ON PAPER'S STAFF

Staff of the Antiochian, campus publication at Antioch College, Yellow Springs, has been completed with the appointment of Lincoln Bishop, of Ottawa, Canada, a junior at the college, as business manager. Because of adverse financial returns the size of the paper will be diminished and will be published but four times each period of five weeks.

VETERAN ATTENDS DISTRICT MEETING OF FARM BUREAUS

Russell Brewer, 84-year-old veteran of agriculture, and the oldest member of the Greene County Farm Bureau, attended the Nineteenth District Farm Bureau conference which was held at farm bureau headquarters in the Federal building Thursday.

Mr. Brewer, a Civil War veteran and an active farmer in Xenia Twp., has voted for 16 presidents and thirty-three governors. He became affiliated with the Farmers' Alliance about fifty years ago and has been a member of one or more of the farmer organizations ever since.

The Nineteenth Farm Bureau district of which W. B. Bryson is director, is comprised of Clinton, Fayette, Montgomery and Greene Counties. W. H. Aufranc, district supervisor, and Miss Verna Elzinger of the Home and Community Department of the Ohio Farm Bureau Federation addressed representatives from the various counties on membership maintenance.

Reports were given by J. Welf Cooper on "How We Obtained our 100 Member Township," and by J. B. Mason on "The State Annual Meetings." County Farm Bureau presidents and county agents gave county reports. The next district meeting will be held at Dayton March 29.

ESCAPED YOUTHS ARE RE-CAPTURED

LANCASTER, O., Feb. 15.—Lawrence Tipton, 18, of Steubenville, and James May of Washington C. H., who escaped from the Boys Industrial School here were captured yesterday at Amanda by Carl Rymer, village marshal, and several other men who saw them walking along the railroad near the village.

The boys confessed, police said, to the robbery of the Bruney grocery and restaurant here Tuesday night and said they were cooking sausage in the rear of the store when a policeman making his rounds tried the door. The boys were returned to the reformatory.

Altogether Welsh was credited with winning ten rounds. Only five went to the champion and the other five were even.

For once in an international bout there was no protest over the decision. Ritchie admitted publicly that he had been fairly and squarely beaten. He had no excuses and made none.

Editor's Note: This is the first of a new series on famous ring battles of the past.

GRANGE PRESENTS PLAY THURSDAY AT CAESARCREEK HIGH

Caesarcreek Grange presented a three-act comedy entitled "Kentucky Belle" to a packed house at Caesarcreek High School Thursday night.

The play was interesting, the lines were catchy and the characters performed their parts well.

Mr. and Mrs. Elton Haines, who carried the leading roles as "John Carson Gordon" and "Miss Isabelle Douglas," gave exceptionally fine portrayals. Mrs. Emory Oglesbee, as "Cindy," the colored maid, and "Henry," her lover, played by Lindsey Linton, took care of the comedy parts in capable fashion.

Other characters were: "Miss Maria Douglas," Grace Middleton; "Marie Van Harenzer," Mary Wilson; "Colonel William McMillen," J. B. Mason; "Dr. Blake," Marion Middleton; "Miss Madden," a nurse, Mary Jones; "Mrs. Gordon," Mrs. Charles Lewis; "Miss Go-don," Miss Irene Peterson; telephone linemen, Charles Lewis, Emory Oglesbee, William Miller and Dennis Pagett; young men and girls of the village, Lucile Stroup, Helen Conklin, Guy Gravitt and Charles Pickering.

Spectacular numbers were introduced during the performance by Barbara Jean Mason and chorus of high school girls and a men's quartet.

The play was produced under the direction of Mrs. J. B. Mason. Music during the intermission was furnished by the high school orchestra.

Bowling

Lead of the Greene County Lumber Co., was reduced to seven null games when the league-leaders slumped to the extent of losing two out of three games to the Lang Chevrolet Co. in a Recreation League bowling match Thursday night.

Cox topped the winners with a series of 584. Brickel was best for the champions with a 595 total. Box score:

PATTERSON'S PETS PLAY NEW ANTIOCH

Central Junior High School's basketball team, its season's record marred by only one defeat, will meet New Antioch Juniors in a return game on the court of the small Clinton County school Friday night.

About a month ago Central Juniors nosed out New Antioch 18 to 16 in an exciting game here. At that time the Dayton twins, who have since transferred their residence to Greene County and are members of the Central Junior quintet, played for New Antioch against Coach Patterson's pets.

Saturday, night Central Juniors will have to look to their laurels, meeting the strong McClain Junior High team of Greenfield at Central gym as a preliminary to the finals of the city grade school basketball league. McClain Juniors have won eight out of nine games this year.

GIVEN PARDON

COLUMBUS, O., Feb. 15.—Governor Myers V. Cooper has issued a pardon to Roy Hampton of Lorain County, serving time in the Toledo workhouse on charges of transporting liquor. Hampton was arrested in Huron County in September, 1928 and was fined $500 and costs. He was sent to the work house in lieu of payment. He was pardoned because his mother is seriously ill and his wife and four children are destitute.

Softball Association Organized For 1929

NAME COMMISSION TO REGULATE SPORT HERE; TWO LEAGUES

Eligibility Lists Must Be Ready By Next March 30.

ORGANIZATION of the Xenia Softball Association for 1929 was perfected at a called meeting of representatives of the various organizations and groups expecting to sponsor teams this summer, Thursday night.

The teams will be organized and formed into two leagues to be known as the National and American Leagues, as was the case last summer. It was decided.

A commission of three disinterested men, composed of Ohmer Tate as chairman, E. E. Boxwell and Fred Baldwin, not connected in any way with teams that will play, was elected.

In organizing the various softball teams in the two leagues, preference will be given teams that played last year in case more than ten teams make application to play.

Eligibility lists of all teams expecting to put a team in the field must be submitted by March 30. The lists will be limited to a maximum of fifteen players unless a team is being entered by an organization or club. In that event the entire membership of the organization is eligible to compete.

The duties of the newly-elected commission will include adoption of playing rules for both leagues, authority to decide upon eligibility questions, arranging for umpires, passing on the type of equipment to be used in the games, deciding upon the amount of the fee to be paid by each team, scheduling of postponed games, having the grounds kept in good condition, serving as a board of arbitration on any mooted questions, arranging schedules for each league and deciding in which league the various teams belong.

It is also announced that all persons interested in the sport whose names are not contained in any of the eligibility lists that are submitted, should get in touch with the commission. An effort will be made to place them on some team.

The meeting Thursday night, called by The Downtown Country Club, which has been playing a prominent part in organization of the pastime in Xenia, was well attended.

NUTRITION EXPERT SPEAKS TO LEADERS

Township leaders of the nutrition project "Meat and Meat-like Dishes" met with Mrs. Emilie McEwen, nutrition specialist of Ohio State University, at the home of County Agent E. A. Drake, 109 S. Monroe St., Wednesday to receive the second lesson of the project.

The preparation, serving and place of meat in the diet, were discussed and demonstrated. Marks of good meat, nutritive value and care and cooking of meats were discussed.

Township leaders will give this work to leaders in their respective townships, who will in turn give it to local groups. Persons interested should communicate with their leaders or with the county agent.

ON PAPER'S STAFF

Staff of the Antiochian, campus publication at Antioch College, Yellow Springs, has been completed with the appointment of Lincoln Bishop, of Ottawa, Canada, a junior at the college, as business manager. Because of adverse financial returns the size of the paper will be diminished and will be published but four times each period of five weeks.

VETERAN ATTENDS DISTRICT MEETING OF FARM BUREAUS

Russell Brewer, 84-year-old veteran of agriculture, and the oldest member of the Greene County Farm Bureau, attended the Nineteenth Ohio District Farm Bureau conference which was held at farm bureau headquarters in the Federal building Thursday.

Mr. Brewer, a Civil War veteran and an active farmer in Xenia Twp., has voted for 16 presidents and thirty-three governors. He became affiliated with the Farmers' Alliance about fifty years ago and has been a member of one or more of the farmer organizations ever since.

The Nineteenth Farm Bureau district of which W. B. Bryson is director, is comprised of Clinton, Fayette, Montgomery and Greene Counties. W. H. Aufranc, district supervisor, and Miss Verma Elinger of the Home and Community Department of the Ohio Farm Bureau Federation addressed representatives from the various counties on membership maintenance.

Reports were given by J. Welf Cooper on "How We Obtained our 100 Member Township," and by J. B. Mason on "The State Annual Meetings." County Farm Bureau presidents and county agents gave county reports. The next district meeting will be held at Dayton March 29.

ESCAPED YOUTHS ARE RE-CAPTURED

LANCASTER, O., Feb. 15.—Lawrence Tipton, 18, of Steubenville and James May of Washington C. H., who escaped from the Boys' Industrial School here were captured yesterday at Amanda, by Carl Rhymer, village marshal, and several other men who saw them walking along the railroad near the village.

The boys confessed, police said, to the robbery of the Bruney grocery and restaurant here Tuesday night and said they were cooking sausage in the rear of the store when a policeman making his rounds tried the door. The boys were returned to the reformatory.

CENTRAL DRAMATIC STUDENTS TO GIVE THREE SHORT PLAYS

Three one-act plays under the direction of Miss Esther Muriel Smith, will be given by the dramatic department of Central High School in the high school auditorium Wednesday evening, February 20, at 8:15.

The casts are made up of high school students in dramatic art. The program will be sponsored by the juniors and tickets can be purchased from any member of the class. The plays to be presented are:

"Jeppha's Daughter" a one-act drama that won a prize in a contest conducted recently by the Drama League of America is based on the familiar Bible story and was written by Elrich Levinger. The story is presented from a new and dramatic angle with a strong element of suspense. The characters are vividly drawn and the dialogue possible without being stilted.

"The Kelley Kid," by Kathleen Norris and Dan Fothergill, is full of excellent Irish characters that are not in any sense caricatures. A clever and humorous dramatization of the inimitable short story of the same name in the author's volume "The Callahans and the Murphys."

Benjamin Franklin, Journeyman, by Constance Darcy McKay is a dramatized episode that occurred in the early life of Franklin showing his ambition and early struggles.

HEARINGS DELAYED AGAIN ON CHARGES AGAINST MILKMEN

Hearings of James Hurley and Lawrence Clemmer Xenia dairymen, on affidavits charging them with using registered bottles belonging to other dairies, which were scheduled for Friday morning in Probate Court, were postponed until next Tuesday morning because of the inability of Prosecutor J. Carl Marshall to be present.

The two dairymen were ordered into court Friday to answer to charges filed in May, 1928, by James Martin, Columbus, an inspector for this district of the dairy and food division of the state department of agriculture.

The charges were originally filed before J. F. MacEwan, Xenia Twp. justice of the peace, last May 4 but were withdrawn and filed in Probate Court. For various reasons the hearings were delayed for nearly a year.

Three charges are filed against each dairymen. They are accused of appropriating for their own use registered bottles belonging to the Springfield Dairy Products Co., V. H. Moore and Son, and Ringer and Sons.

Inspector Martin asserted that Hurley has previously been prosecuted four times and Clemmer twice on similar charges drawing small fines on each occasion. A more serious punishment is provided for third and subsequent offenses, the inspector said.

ELEAZER

Mrs. Laverne Fulton of Massillon is spending the week with her parents.

Mrs. Laura Early, who has not been so well, is improving again. Mrs. Ida Timmons of Columbus, is the guest of Mrs. L. H. Hartsook.

CENTRAL DRAMATIC STUDENTS TO GIVE THREE SHORT PLAYS

Three one-act plays under the direction of Miss Esther Muriel Smith, will be given by the dramatic department of Central High School in the high school auditorium Wednesday evening, February 20, at 8:15.

The casts are made up of high school students in dramatic art. The program will be sponsored by the juniors and tickets can be purchased from any member of the class. The plays to be presented are:

"Jeppha's Daughter," a one-act drama that won a prize in a contest conducted recently by the Drama League of America is based on the familiar Bible story and was written by Elfrich Levinger. The story is presented from a new and dramatic angle with a strong element of suspense. The characters are vividly drawn and the dialogue poetic without being stilted.

"The Kelley Kid," by Kathleen Norris and Dan Pothovich, is full of excellent Irish characters that are not in any sense caricatures. A clever and humorous dramatization of the inimitable short story of the same name in the author's volume "The Callahans and the Murphys."

"Benjamin Franklin, Journeyman," by Constantine D'Arcy McKay is a dramatized episode that occurred in the early life of Franklin showing his ambition and early struggles.

MT. Tabor

Mr. and Mrs. I. L. Smith and family, spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Wilson and family of near Waynesville.

Rev. Arthur and son of Bowersville were Sunday dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Wolary and family.

Mrs. Lewis Nace is slowly recuperating after having been confined to her home for the past month, suffering from complications.

Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur Neff and family of Eleazer and Mr. and Mrs. Francis Devoe and family of New Jasper, spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Jones.

The regular monthly meeting of the Loyal Sons' and Daughters' Sunday School Classes was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Kyle Tuesday evening. After the devotional and business meeting a social time was spent. Refreshments of sandwiches, salad and coffee were served.

The regular monthly business meeting of the Ladies Aid will be held at the home of Mrs. Emma Harness, Thursday February 14.

Owing to the services at First Church, Xenia, next Sunday afternoon, Sunday School will be held in the morning at ten o'clock.

Movie Fashions

The latest in spring coats is worn by Josephine Dunn, of the screen. It is a caped model of Lido blue with long haired blue fox trimming on collar and cuffs. A small, close fitting hat of darker blue matches the blue pumps worn with this coat.

HEARINGS DELAYED AGAIN ON CHARGES AGAINST MILKMEN

Hearings of James Hurley and Lawrence Clemmer Xenia dairymen, on affidavits charging them with using registered bottles belonging to other dairies, which were scheduled for Friday morning in Probate Court, were postponed until next Tuesday morning because of the inability of Prosecutor J. Carl Marshall to be present.

The two dairymen were ordered into court Friday to answer to charges filed in May, 1928, by James Martin, Columbus, an inspector for this district of the dairy and food division of the state department of agriculture.

The charges were originally filed before J. F. MacEwan, Xenia Twp. Justice of the peace, last May 4 but were withdrawn and filed in Probate Court. For various reasons the hearings were delayed for nearly a year.

Three charges are filed against each dairymen. They are accused of appropriating for their own use registered bottles belonging to the Springfield Dairy Products Co., V. H. Moore and Son, and Ringer and Sons.

Inspector Martin asserted that Hurley has previously been prosecuted four times and Clemmer twice on similar charges drawing small fines on each occasion. A more serious punishment is provided for third and subsequent offenses, the inspector said.

ELEAZER

Mrs. Laverne Fulton of Massillon is spending the week with her parents.

Mrs. Laura Early, who has not been so well, is improving again. Mrs. Ida Timmons of Columbus is the guest of Mrs. L. H. Harsook.

Creamed Comments On S.S. Lesson

Christian life, like all life, is a growth. It begins in a seed or root and sprouts and grows up into trunk and branches and then blossoms and bears fruit.

Vs. 40. "He findeth first his brother Simon, and saith, thou art Simon, the son of Jonah, thou shalt be called Cephas." Jesus knows each one of us; he will help us to a new name having meaning in it, a power, a man that could be depended upon when he became matured.

Vs. 15, 16. "But who say ye that I am. And Simon Peter answered and said, Thou art the Christ, the son of the living God." Ideas rule life and in the long run sway the world. What men think determines what they are and do. What men think of Christ is a master force.

V. 17. "Flesh and blood has not revealed it unto thee, but my father who is in heaven." An understanding of Christ's nature and work comes not from man's reasoning but from a revelation of God's spirit.

V. 18. "And I also say unto thee, that thou art Peter, and upon this rock I will build my church; and the gates of Hades shall not prevail against it." The two main interpretations are first, that the rock on which Christ will build his church is Peter himself, and second, that this rock is faith which has been confessed. The two views may be combined into the view that it is Peter as making this confession that is the foundation of the church.

V. 15. "Jesus saith unto Simon, Lovest thou me more than these? He saith to him, yea, Lord, thou knowest that I love thee. He saith unto him, Feed my lambs." This answer shows that a great change had come into his life; the spirit of self sufficiency is gone and he is dominated by the love of Christ. But love to Christ is not to be mere sentiment; it must be expressed in practical service; these facts are so important that they were repeated twice by Christ.

Discussion on Questions S.S. Lesson

1. What is personal evangelism?
2. Why does Christian growth proceed so slowly?
3. Why is conversion not enough?
4. What value to the individual is an open confession?
5. What kind of a community would there be where there is no regard for God, no respect for Christ?

6. What things in our life interfere with Christian growth and how overcome them?
7. What happens to a Christian who stops growing?
Charles Lamb once said to a company of friends, "If Shakespeare should enter this room, we would all rise; if Jesus Christ should enter, everyone would kneel."

"We have ideals which can only be attained by growth; to lose our high ideals is to lose our soul; we pray for help to move forward and upward, patiently but persistently moving in the way, the truth and the life."

1. Of what value is a church council of religious education?

There are so many changes to be effected to meet the demands of religious education in the light of modern study and experience that there is needed a research bureau with the special task of seeking ways and means of adequately conducting the educational task of the church. A survey needs to be made to know available sources and possibilities; an educational program to lead church authorities to better understand the needs of religious education; calls for special work that may be done by a council of religious education; to effect needed changes, the council may serve as a responsible source of information and power to indicate and direct the essential steps in a better program of religious education. Associated with that council should be some delegated person as leader commonly known as director of religious education.

2. What are the requirements of the director of religious education?
The great requirement is, that he should have the theory and practice of education, be willing to co-operate with the pastor and give definite study to the religious aspects of the program. The spiritual aspects must never be chilled by the cold presentation of facts rather than the warm glowing ideas and ideals of life.

3. What is the task of the director of religious education of the church?
He directs the education of the church, presents overlapping of activities, keeps in touch with parents and teachers, and keeps ever in mind the goal of the church—an intelligent and interested membership with Christ-centered lives. It is essential something must be done to develop trained teachers and officers and the director of religious education would be in charge of this work.

When George Washington was in school, one of his teachers, Rev. Mayne gave the boys more than one hundred quaint old maxims which had come from the French originally, and told them to copy those of the maxims which they wanted to use as a part of their code of living. George Washington's copybook has been preserved and the following include some of the maxims Washington wrote:

1. Every action done in company ought to be with some sign of respect to those that the present.
2. Mock not or jest of anything of importance; break no jests that are sharp and biting, and if you deliver anything witty and pleasant abstain laughing thereat yourself.

George Washington's Views on "The Brotherhood of Man"

George Washington said, "As a member of an infant empire, as a philanthropist by character, and if I may be allowed the expression, as a citizen of the Great Republic of Humanity at large, I cannot help turning my attention sometimes to this subject."

"I would be understood to mean, I cannot avoid reflecting, with pleasure on the probable influence that commerce may hereafter have on human manners and society in general. On these occasions I consider how mankind may be connected like one Great Family in fraternal ties."

"I indulge a fond, perhaps an enthusiastic idea that the world is evidently much less barbarous than it has been. Its melioration must still be progressive, that nations are becoming more humanized in their policy; that the subjects of ambition and causes for hostility are daily diminishing. It is the period is not very remote, when the benefits of a liberal and free commerce will pretty generally succeed to the devastations and horrors of war."

EXPECT LINDY TO WED IN MAY

MEXICO CITY, Feb. 15.—The capital expects the arrival of Miss Ann Spencer Morrow and Col. Charles A. Lindbergh to be held in May or June, probably in May.

If Lindbergh comes here at the end of this month to open the new Brownsville-Mexico City air mail route, as expected, it was believed the date would be set then.

Lindbergh, it was assumed, would prefer Mexico City as the place for the wedding, since he had often expressed fondness for this country, where he first met his fiancée, and he probably would be able to get greater privacy here than anywhere in the United States.

Miss Morrow's wishes in the matter are known only to herself. Ambassador Dwight W. Morrow, at his weekly conference with the press yesterday, declined to make any reference to his daughter's wedding and only smiled at attempts to draw him out. His only concession was to make arrangements for all newspapers to receive approved photographs of his daughter.

LINDBERGH LEAVES MIAMI FOR NORTH

MIAMI, Fla., Feb. 15.—Col. Chas. A. Lindbergh winged his way north today, expecting to reach New York by nightfall if weather conditions permit.

Lindbergh left the Pan American airport in a Curtiss Falcon plane shortly before 8 a. m. Before stepping into the cockpit he said he "might" stop enroute at Sapelo Island, winter estate of Howard E. Coffin, millionaire automobile manufacturer.

Pan American airways, of which Lindbergh is technical advisor, said if weather was good, Lindbergh should reach New York in eleven hours. A blue sky and bright sun greeted his monoplane as it took the air.

Creamed Comments On S.S. Lesson

Christian life, like all life, is a growth. It begins in a seed or root and sprouts and grows up into trunk and branches and then blossoms and bears fruit.

Vs. 16, "He findeth first his brother Simon, and saith, we have found the Messiah, and he brought him to Jesus." Ties of blood are powerful cords drawing others into the kingdom. The kingdom grows by each converted man finding another.

V. 42, "Jesus looked upon him and said, thou art Simon, the son of Jonah, thou shalt be called Cephas." Jesus knows each one of us; he will help us to new name having meaning in it. Peter was to become Cephas, a rock, a man that could be depended upon when he became matured.

Vs. 15, 16, "But who say ye that I am, And Simon Peter answered and said, Thou art the Christ, the son of the living God." Ideas rule life and in the long run way the world. What men think determines what they are and do. What men think of Christ is a master force.

V. 17, "Flesh and blood has not revealed it unto thee, but my father, who is in heaven." An understanding of Christ's nature and work comes not from man's reasoning but from a revelation of God's spirit.

V. 18, "And I also say unto thee, that thou art Peter, and upon this rock I will build my church; and the gates of Hades shall not prevail against it." The two main interpretations are first, that the rock on which Christ will build his church is Peter himself, and, second, that this rock is faith which has been confessed. The two views may be combined into the view that it is Peter as making this confession that is the foundation of the church.

V. 15, "Jesus saith unto Simon, lovest thou me more than these? He saith to him, yea, Lord, thou knowest that I love thee. He saith unto him, Feed my lambs." This answer uttered after three years of growth shows that a great change had come into his life; the spirit of self sufficiency is gone and he is dominated by the love of Christ. But love to Christ is not to be mere sentiment; it must be expressed in practical service; these facts are to be imitated, they were repeated twice by Christ.

Discussion on Questions S.S. Lesson

1. What is personal evangelism?
2. Why does Christian growth proceed so slowly?
3. Why is conversion not enough?
4. What value to the individual is an open confession?
5. What kind of a community would there be where there is no regard for God, no respect for Christ?
6. What things in our life interfere with Christian growth and how overcome them?
7. What happens to a Christian who stops growing?

Charles Lamb once said to a company of friends, "If Shakespeare should enter this room, we would all rise; if Jesus Christ should enter, everyone would kneel."

LESSON PRAYER
"We have ideals which can only be attained by growth; to lose our high ideals is to lose our soul; we pray for help to move forward and onward, patiently but persistently moving in the way, the truth and the life."

BOOK REVIEW

ONE HUNDRED AND ONE HYMN STORIES, by Price, The Abingdon Press, gives a short sketch of the author and the source material of the hymns, the knowledge of which makes hymn singing more intelligible.

THE CREDENTIALS OF THE CHURCH by DAVIS, The Mac Millan Co., is written to answer the question, "Why should I give my money and service to the church? What valid claims has the church on my life warranting me to devote myself to its leadership?"

Church Forum
OF WHAT VALUE IS A CHURCH COUNCIL OF RELIGIOUS EDUCATION?

There are so many changes to be effected to meet the demands of religious education in the light of modern study and experience that there is needed a research bureau with the special task of seeking ways and means of adequately conducting the educational task of the church. A survey needs to be made to know available sources and possibilities; an educational program to lead church authorities to better understand the needs of religious education calls for special work that may be done by a council of religious education; to effect needed changes, the council may serve as a responsible source of information and power to indicate and direct the essential steps in a better program of religious education. Associated with the council should be some delegated person as leader commonly known as director of religious education.

2. What are the requirements of the director of religious education?

The great requirement is, that he should have the theory and practice of education, be willing to cooperate with the pastor and give definite study to the religious attributes of the program. The spiritual aspects must never be filled by the cold presentation of facts rather than the warm glowing ideas and ideals of life.

3. What is the task of the director of religious education?

He directs the education of the church, prevents overlapping of activities, keeps in touch with parents and teachers, and keeps ever in mind the goal of the church—an intelligent and interested membership with Christ-centered lives. It is essential something must be done to develop trained teachers and officers and the director of religious education would be in charge of this work.

Home Education
George Washington's Code of Living.

When George Washington was in school, one of his teachers, Rev. Mayne gave the boys more than one hundred quaint old maxims which had come from the French originally, and told them to copy those of the maxims which they wanted to use as a part of their code of living. George Washington's copybook has been preserved and the following include some of the maxims Washington wrote:

1. Every action done in company ought to be with some sign of respect to those that are present.
2. Mock not or jest of anything of importance; break no jests that are sharp and biting, and if you deliver anything witty and pleasant abstain laughing thereat yourself.
3. Labour to keep alive in your breast that little spark of celestial fire called Conscience.

D. Carl Yoder.

The Better Way
George Washington's Views on "The Brotherhood of Man"

George Washington said, "As a member of an infant empire, as a philanthropist by character, and if I may be allowed the expression, as a citizen of the Great Republic of Humanity at large, I cannot help turning my attention sometimes to this subject."

"I would be understood to mean, I cannot avoid reflecting, with pleasure on the probable influence that commerce may hereafter have on human manners and society in general. On these occasions I consider how mankind may be connected like one Great Family in fraternal ties."

"I indulge a fond, perhaps an enthusiastic idea that the world is evidently much less barbarous than it has been, its melioration must still be progressive, that nations are becoming more humanized in their policy; that the subjects of ambition and causes for hostility are daily diminishing. It is the period is not very remote, when the benefits of a liberal and free commerce will pretty generally succeed to the devastations and horrors of war."

EXPECT LINDY TO WED IN MAY

MEXICO CITY, Feb. 15.—The capital expects the wedding of Miss Anne Spencer Morrow and Col. Charles A. Lindbergh to be held in May or June, probably in May.

If Lindbergh comes here at the end of this month to open the new Brownsville-Mexico City air mail route, as expected, it was believed the date would be set then.

Lindbergh, it was assumed, would prefer Mexico City as the place for the wedding, since he had often expressed fondness for this country, where he first met his fiancée, and he probably would be able to get greater privacy here than anywhere in the United States.

Miss Morrow's wishes in the matter are known only to herself.

Ambassador Dwight W. Morrow, at his weekly conference with the press yesterday, declined to make any reference to his daughter's wedding and only smiled at attempts to draw him out. His only concession was to make arrangements for all newspapers to receive approved photographs of his daughter.

LINDBERGH LEAVES MIAMI FOR NORTH

MIAMI, Fla., Feb. 15.—Col. Chas. A. Lindbergh winged his way north today, expecting to reach New York by nightfall if weather conditions permit.

Lindbergh left the Pan American airport in a Curtiss Falcon plane shortly before 8 a. m. Before stepping into the cockpit he said he "might" stop enroute at Sapelo Island, winter estate of Howard E. Coffin, millionaire automobile manufacturer.

Pan American airplanes, of which Lindbergh is technical advisor, said if weather was good, Lindbergh should reach New York in eleven hours. A blue sky and bright sun greeted his monoplane as it took the air.

The Church Invites You

George Washington said, "It would ill become me to conceal the joy I have felt in perceiving the fraternal affection which appears to increase every day among the friends of genuine religion. It affords edifying prospects, indeed, to see Christians of every denomination dwell together in more charity and conduct themselves in respect to each other with a more Christian like spirit than ever they have done in any former age or in any other nation."

The church fosters these fraternal affections. Why not accept the invitation and GO TO CHURCH NEXT SUNDAY? —D. Carl Yoder.

Clerk, at $35 Per, Forks Up "Twenty Grand" Alimony

Quintus Spicknall Tells
How He Got Rich on
His Modest Salary

By International Illustrated News
KANSAS CITY, Mo.—"Clerk, at $35 per, must pay $20,000
alimony!"

Now that's a good deal like the famous editor's definition of a corking story—when a man bites a dog, it's NEWS! So it isn't surprising that the headline writers almost ran a temperature in handling the unusual divorce case of Spicknall vs.
Spicknall; nor that the public literally "ate it up" and cried for more.

One reason for this was that $20,- 000 was a lot of money for any one to pay in alimony—no matter what salary he received. The other was the astonishing fact that Quintus Spicknall's weekly pay envelope contained exactly $35 per.

Collects "Twenty Grand"

Was there a fortune in the bank to the credit of this modest self-effacing clerk suddenly drawn into the limelight? If so would the beauty who sued him on a "general indignities" charge collect the full "twenty grand"?

There WAS, she DID!

Slowly the facts in the case came to light. Quintus Spicknall's story was the usual one in fiction and the rare one in real life, of the clerk who buys a few shares of stock on a "tip" and watches them skyrocket in value until he is treading the roxy thoroughfare known as "Easy Street." Several years ago he purchased 100 shares in the company for which he worked, a concern the stock of which is now quoted at $1,500 a share. Thus Quintus' position improved, even though he remained a mere clerk at $35 per.

Discord Enters His Home

Cupid claimed him as a victim in the summer of 1925, his marriage to his ex-wife, Jeannette, taking place in Olathe, Kans. A year later a child was born to the couple, a girl

Mrs. Jeannette Spicknall, who took the "twenty grand"

whom they named Diana. But discord entered the modest home and steadily got no better. Finally, the strict Mrs. Spicknall instituted suit for divorce against her spouse, setting forth in her petition that he could—and should—pay the sum of $20,000 in alimony.

Quintus replied with a cross bill

that painted his wife as extravagant and nagging.

READ THIS FIRST:

Betty Brown believes she has devoted too much time to cultivating her mind and not enough to her body. She decides to take up dancing, and goes to a summer camp for that purpose. George Harris, her next-door neighbor, a stow-stolid boy who had been her best friend, is almost forgotten because Harry Ford, a happy, careless, joking youngster, kisses her as she was never kissed before. He, too, is lost when Andy Adair kisses her wildly just before she does her first solo dance. She dances to and for Andy, and at the end of her dance, when she refuses to go outside with him, he dashes away, seemingly angry with her.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

CHAPTER XIV

Selickoff awarded her the prize in her class and said the experienced girls had done no better. The other girls congratulated her over and over again, but she scarcely heard them. She wondered why Andy had left so suddenly.

The Sunday after Betty had danced for Andy Adair she was still wondering why he had gone away angry with her. She decided to ask Lois.

"Lois, did you notice that as soon as I had finished my dance last night, Andy went home?"

"Wasn't interested in the rest of us, eh?"

"No, it wasn't that. I ought not to tell, but before I danced he kissed me. I might as well be honest about it; it thrilled me to death! I danced for him, trying to make him like me more! When I finished he begged me to go out for a walk with him. Of course I couldn't go, for it would have been impolite to leave before the other girls had finished dancing. Then he jumped up and went home angry!"

"Smart kid!" laughed Lois, patting her arm.

"I don't know what you mean!"

"He'll be back!" Lois spoke with conviction.

"But why did he go?"

"You are either the dumbest or the smartest thing I know," Lois looked at her curiously.

"I must be dumb, I don't understand it at all. He must have known I couldn't go out with him then!"

"Listen to me, little one. It is never safe to go out in the dark with a man in a humor, if you want to come back in one piece!
Never trust yourself with them when they are agitated like that!
Salome got the head of John the Baptist by dancing, but many more women have lost their own heads trying the same experiment. She laughed and walked away, leaving Betty only half informed.

True to Lois' prediction, Andy telephoned on Friday to ask if he might come down on the following Saturday. He requested Betty to be dressed for a drive. She could not do this; her parents were coming to take her home, as it was the last day of the carnival. She was soon pleased. When he asked if she would drive with him the following week she gladly consented.

Saturday was a day of farewells at the camp. Betty regretted leaving, for it had been a happy three months. When they had all said good-bye, each carrying the other they would meet again the following summer, Betty took the bus with her folks and went home. Vera, the red-headed girl, avoided her, and did not say good-bye.

At home Betty put a two-yard square of linoleum on her bedroom floor, on which to practice her dancing. The foot rail of her old-fashioned brass bed made a splendid substitute for an exercise bar.
Every day, immediately after breakfast, Betty did her bar work and went through the routines of the five dances she had learned during the summer.

She had developed a natural grace, and her sincerity as a student during her high school days made her quick at learning.
She was best at aerobic, which Selickoff told her was the most attractive form of dancing for people who did not know. Into one routine she had introduced a few seemingly difficult splits, front over and cartwheels, which her father applauded extravagantly.

In addition she had a nice waltz clog, a five-step, a soft-shoe number and a jazz encore, the routine of which she had arranged for herself, including it all the best jazz and strut steps she knew.

Going over these painstakingly, she soon perfected them. She felt able to give a good account of herself should her father ask her to dance at a lodge entertainment.
She was highly appreciative of what he had done in giving her the dancing lessons. Perhaps there was a bit of desire in her mind, as she wanted to take again, when Sel-ickoff opened the studio in the city for the winter.

Andy telephoned her an invitation to go to a party with him. It was at one of the fraternity houses of a local college. Andy said it would be wet and hot. She consented to go, although afraid of a wet party.

She put on her very best evening clothes. As she dressed she wondered if she would be expected to dance. She arranged her clothing so that if she was asked, she

"Lay off that stuff, kid!" a voice spoke in her ear.

could do anything except her acrobatic number.

Twenty-five couples were at the party, two or three were old schoolmates, Harry Ford greeted her enthusiastically.

When he had turned her wraps over to the maid she was immediately pulled over to a big punch bowl around which most of the youngsters were gathered. Andy handed her a glass of punch and turned to get himself one.

"Is there any liquor in this?" she asked the girl next to her.

"Of course there is nothing intoxicating in the punch!" answered the girl, solemnly.

Betty took a sip and found it bitter but palatable. When Andy returned she clicked glasses with him. After she drank what was left she thought the girl had not been serious, as the punch tasted queer.

"Andy, is there whisky in that punch?" asked Betty.

"About a teaspoonful of gin to a gallon, I think," Andy spoke in disgust. "But I know where there is some. Let's go get a snifter of straight stuff!"

"Why, Andy, I don't drink!"
cried Betty, indignantly. "Of course you were just fooling!"

"Sure!" assured Andy. "Just stick to that punch. Don't let anybody give you anything else and you are all right."

A boy at the piano struck up a jazz tune and the group around the bowl separated into couples. With Andy's arm around her Betty forgot the incident. Andy held her close, but the others danced in

Clerk, at $35 Per, Forks Up "Twenty Grand" Alimony

Quintus Spicknall Tells
How He Got Rich on
His Modest Salary

By International Illustrated News
KANSAS CITY, Mo.—"Clerk," at $35 per, must pay $20,000 alimony!

Now that's a good deal like the famous story's definition of a corking story—when a man bites a dog, it's NEWS! So it isn't surprising that the headline writers almost ran a temperature in handling the unusual divorce case of Spicknall vs. Spicknall, nor that the public literally "ate it up" and cried for more.

One reason for this was that $20,000 was a lot of money for any one to pay in alimony—no matter what salary he received. The other was the astonishing fact that Quintus Spicknall's weekly pay envelope contained exactly $35 per.

Collects "Twenty Grand"

Was there a fortune in the bank to the credit of this modest self-effacing clerk suddenly drawn into the limelight? If so, would the beauty who sued him on a "general indignities" charge collect the full "twenty grand"?

There WAS; she DID!

Slowly the facts in the case came to light. Quintus Spicknall's story was the usual one in fiction and the rare one in real life, of the clerk who buys a few shares of stock on a "tip" and watches them skyrocket in value until he is treating the rosy thoroughfare known as "Easy Street." Several years ago he purchased 100 shares in the company for which he worked, a concern the stock of which is now quoted at $1,500 a share. Thus Quintus' position improved, even though he remained a mere clerk at $35 per.

Discord Enters His Home

Cupid claimed him as a victim in the summer of 1925, his marriage to his ex-wife, Jeannette, taking place in Olathe, Kans. A year later a child was born to the couple, a girl whom they named Diana. But discord entered the modest home and steadily got no better. Finally, the pretty Mrs. Spicknall instituted suit for divorce against her spouse, setting forth in her petition that he could—and should—pay the sum of $20,000 in alimony.

Mrs. Jeannette Spicknall, who took the "twenty grand"

Quintus replied with a cross bill that painted his wife as extravagant and nagging.

READ THIS FIRST:

Betty Brown believes she has devoted too much time to cultivating her mind and not enough to her body. She decides to take up dancing, and goes to a summer camp for that purpose. George Harris, her next-door neighbor, a slow, stolid boy who had been her best friend, is almost forgotten because Harry Ford, a happy, careless, joking youngster, kisses her as she was never kissed before. He, too, is lost when Andy Adair kisses her wildly just before she does her first solo dance. She dances to and for Andy, and at the end of her dance, when she refuses to go outside with him, he dashes away, seemingly angry with her.

NOW ON WITH THE STORY

CHAPTER XIV

Sellkoff awarded her the prize in her class and said the experienced girls had done no better. The other girls congratulated her over and over again, but she scarcely heard them. She wondered why Andy had left so suddenly.

The Sunday after Betty had danced for Andy Adair she was still wondering why he had gone away angry with her. She decided to ask Lois.

"Lois, did you notice that as soon as I had finished my dance last night, Andy went home?"

"Wasn't interested in the rest of us, eh?"

"No, it wasn't that. I ought not to tell, but before I danced he kissed me. I might as well be honest about it. It thrilled me to death! I danced for him, trying to make him like me more! When I finished he begged me to go out for a walk with him. A course I couldn't go, for it would have been impolite to leave before the other girls had finished dancing. Then he jumped up and went home angry!"

"Smart kid!" laughed Lois, patting her arm.

"I don't know what you mean!"

"He'll be back!" Lois spoke with conviction.

"But why did he go?"

"You are either the dumbest or the smartest thing I know!" Lois looked at her curiously.

"I must be dumb. I don't understand it at all. He must have known I couldn't go out with him then!"

"Listen to me, little one. It is never safe to go out in the dark with a man in that humor, if you want to come back in one piece! Never trust yourself with them when they are agitated like that! Salome got the head of John the Baptist by dancing, but many more women have lost their own heads trying the same experiment." She laughed and walked away, leaving Betty only half informed.

True to Lois' prediction, Andy telephoned on Friday to ask if he might come down on the following Saturday. He requested Betty to be dressed for a drive. She could not do this; her parents were coming to take her home, as it was the last day of the camp. Andy did not seem pleased. When he asked if she would drive with him the following week she gladly consented.

Saturday was a day of farewells at the camp. Betty regretted leaving, for it had been a happy three months. When they had all said goodbye, each assuring the other they would meet again the following summer, Betty took the bus with her folks and went home. Vera, the red-headed girl, avoided her, and did not say goodbye.

At home Betty put a two-yard square of linoleum on her bedroom floor, on which to practice her dancing. The foot rail of her old-fashioned brass bed made a splendid substitute for an exercise bar. Every day, immediately after breakfast, Betty did her bar work and went through the routines of the five dances she had learned during the summer.

She had developed a natural grace, and her sincerity as a student during her high school days made her quick at learning. She was best at aerobatic, which Sellkoff told her was the most attractive form of dancing for people who did not know, into one routine she had introduced a few seemingly difficult spins, front overs and cartwheels, which her father applauded extravagantly.

In addition she had a nice waltz clog, a five-step, a soft-shoe number and a jazz encore, the routine of which she had arranged for herself, including in it all the best jazz and strut steps she knew.

Going over these minutely, she soon perfected them. She felt able to give a good account of herself should her father ask her to dance at a lodge entertainment. She was highly appreciative of what he had done in giving her the dancing lessons. Perhaps there was a bit of design in her mind, as she started to take again, when Sellkoff opened the studio in the city or the winter.

Andy telephoned her an invitation to go to a party with him. It was at one of the fraternity houses of a local college. Andy said it would be wet and hot. She consented to go, although afraid of a wet party.

She put on her very best evening clothes. As she dressed she wondered if she would be expected to dance. She arranged her clothing so that if she was asked, she could do anything except her aerobatic number.

"Lay off that stuff, kid!" a voice spoke in her ear.

Twenty-five couples were at the party, two or three were old schoolmates. Harry Ford greeted her enthusiastically.

When she had turned her wraps over to the maid she was immediately pulled over to a big punch bowl around which most of the youngsters were gathered. Andy handed her a glass of punch and turned to get himself one.

"Is there any liquor in this?" she asked the girl next to her.

"Of course there is nothing intoxicating in the punch!" answered the girl, solemnly.

Betty took a sip and found it bitter but palatable. When Andy returned she clicked glasses with him. After she drank what was left she thought the girl had not been serious, as the punch tasted queer.

"Andy, is there whiskey in that punch?" asked Betty.

"About a teaspoonful of gin to a gallon, I think," Andy spoke in disgust. "But I know where there is some. Let's go get a snifter of straight stuff!"

"Sure!" assured Andy. "Just stick to that punch. Don't let anybody give you anything else and you are all right."

A boy at the piano struck up a jazz tune and the group around the bowl separated into couples. With Andy's arm around her Betty forgot the incident. Andy held her close, but the others danced in the same way. She seemed to float around the room in his arms. When he laid his cheek against hers she snuggled closer.

At the end of the dance they followed the crowd to the punch bowl. She could hardly drink the second glass. It was bitter and she did not like its taste. Andy lifted his to his lips and sipped: "That's a new batch made by a less miserly person." He took the empty cups and joined the rush to the bowl to refill them.

"Lay off that stuff, kid!" a voice spoke in her ear. She looked up to see Harry Ford pass her. She resented his interference, but as she was beginning to feel a bit odd, she made Andy drink both cups, saying she had had enough.

After the next dance Andy asked her if she did not want to see the first house, and took her upstairs. On the steps, on chairs, in the halls, in the bedrooms seated on the beds, everywhere they went they saw couples seated, chatting. The doors were all open, and Betty saw nothing wrong in it. In one room a boy was kissing a girl quite frankly, and only laughed when Andy cried "Break!" as he entered with Betty.

Downstairs again, Betty was pleased to have several boys cut in on her dances, and as she was feeling particularly happy over this, Harry Ford broke in, taking her from a boy who was praising her dancing.

"Hello, Kid!" she greeted.

"Hello, Buzzy!" "Hound!" he laughed. "I am of the opinion that you are not used to drinking, and that gin lemonade would kill at forty yards. Watch your step if you are not used to it."

Before the next dance the boy at the piano clapped his hands and announced they had induced Peggy to dance for them. "Everybody keep back and not get hit in the eye with a flying leg!"

A pretty girl with a lot of enthusiasm danced a self-laughing rag to great applause. Then Andy

The Tinney-Wilson battles made good newspaper copy for a long time, and Tinney's nervous breakdown and retirement from the stage, probably caused them to drop out of the public eye. Imogene completed this effect by changing her name for her film entrance. In the meantime Tinney's life was despaired of by doctors, who found he did not have the will to live. Broke, financially and in his health, he was taken in by an old friend, who proved a good friend. This friend took Tinney into his room, helped nurse him back to health and interested him in a return to the stage in order to give the comedian the desire to live. At last reports he had won his long fight.

Clara Bow is the most popular film star according to the poll taken by the Exhibitors' Herald and Moving Picture World, a film trade publication. The red head led in votes over Colleen Moore, who was first last year. The next six in the order of the vote were: Billie Dove, Bebe Daniels, Dolores Del Rio, Mary Pickford, Marion Davies and Laura La Plante.

The announcement of the marriage of Vera Reynolds, film star, to Robert Ellis, stage player, was a surprise to Hollywood. The couple was married in Paris on May 25, 1926. A flood of discussion followed and attorneys for Ellis later announced that a mistake had been made and that the marriage actually took place in 1927 instead of 1926. Records show that Miss Reynolds was not divorced from Earl T. Montgomery until April 21, 1927.

TEA TABLE TALK

Capital Society Buzzes Over Mrs. Gann, Sister Of Charley Curtis

By BONITA WITT Staff Writer for Central Press and The Gazette

MRS. EDWARD E. GANN

WASHINGTON, D. C., Feb. 15.—Talk at Washington tea tables these days is pretty apt to dissolve itself into a discussion of the action of the Senate Ladies' Luncheon club in refusing to elect Mrs. Edward E. Gann, sister of Vice President-elect Charles Curtis, who acts as hostess for her widowed brother, president of the organization for the next two years.

In the past the presidency of the club always has been tendered the wife of the vice president, so at this year's election, a little band of insurgents got together and decided that therefore, Mrs. Gann was not eligible to hold office. Mrs. George H. Moses, wife of the senator from New Hampshire, who is president pro tem of the senate, has been chosen in her stead.

Ever since the death of Mrs. Curtis, five years ago, Mrs. Gann has been a prominent figure in capital life. Her brother has made his home with her, and she has done all of his entertaining for him. Each Thursday she has held "at homes" in her comfortable house, away from the more fashionable district, where she and her husband have which boasted a garden.

This is not the first time Mrs. Gann has been the center of an entanglement over official society rules. Ever since she has been acting as her brother's hostess, Washington matrons have been considerably perturbed. Should they show her the same courtesies as if she were his wife or should she be given a different rating? One gossip once remarked: "Mrs. Gann must get a lot of fun out of speculating as to just where she will be seated at every official dinner she attends!"

This matter of seating is really of very serious moment in Washington. So serious that the state department often is called upon to decide whether Mrs. So and So shall be placed above or below Mrs. This and That at a dinner table. One temperamental justice of the supreme court "walked out" on a dinner party because he objected to his position at the table.

If Charles Curtis had been elected to the presidency, Dolly Gann would have been mistress of the White House but, since the vice presidency, instead, claimed him, his sister cannot fill the office in which both Mrs. Coolidge and Mrs. Dawes gained so much popularity.

BOY SCOUT ESSAY CONTEST

Fifth place in the essay contest recently conducted by the Xenia District Boy Scout Committee was awarded by the Court of Honor judging committee to James Robinson, 19, whose essay on the subject, "Why I Am A Boy Scout," follows:

Many times I stop to ask myself "Why did I become a Boy Scout?" and immediately a stream of answers come to my mind, that leaves no doubt in my mind as to the reason for my becoming a member of one of the most looked-up-to, interesting mind, body and moral building organizations in the United States of America.

One of the first reasons was that it was an interesting work and it became my chance to join the organization just at the age that a boy begins to look for something to occupy his mind. What can a boy have on his mind that will do him any better service than the teachings of the Boy Scouts of America. Not even the church, school or any other place or institution incorporates the best ideas from all the others as well as the Boy Scouts.

Next to the Ten Commandments that God gave Moses on Mount Sinai the Boy Scout laws are the most perfect example of the laws of God. United States under just these twelve laws would still be the greatest nation on the globe. If Rome had lived up to them she would have never fallen from the lofty pinnacle that they had climbed to.

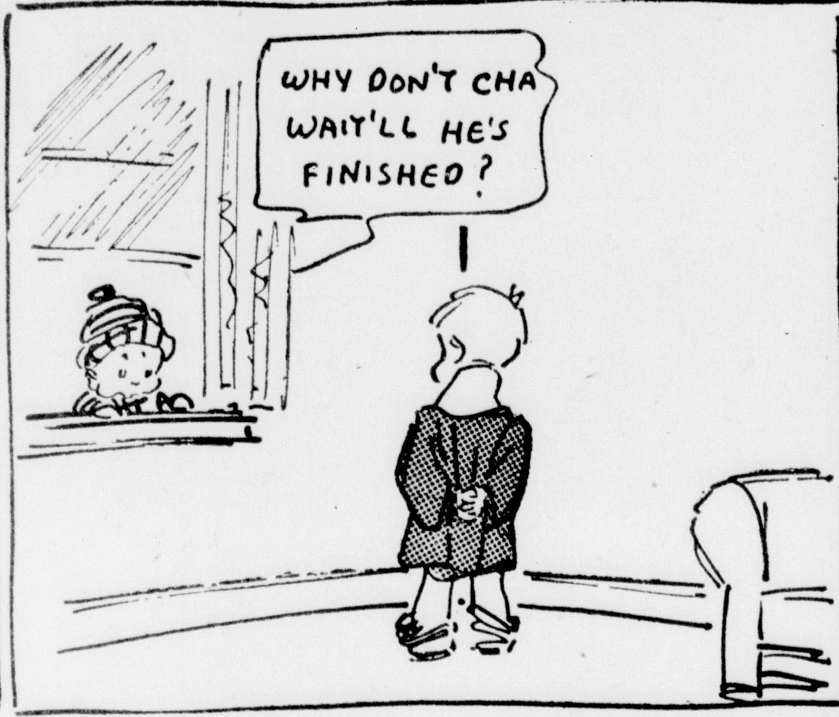

That was the main reason and in a short time I soon found many others, namely the fun that one derives from belonging to the Scouts and the advantages it tends to all boys regardless of race, creed or color. It's main aim is to make them better citizens of United States and to learn them more about God and how to serve him better.

How can any alert, intelligent, young boy overlook such a chance. Surely I couldn't and I didn't.

One hostess once remarked: "Mrs. Gann must get a lot of fun out of speculating as to just where she will be seated at every official dinner she attends!"

BOY SCOUT ESSAY CONTEST

Fifth place in the essay contest recently conducted by the Xenia District Boy Scout Committee was awarded by the Court of Honor judging committee to James Robinson, 19, whose essay on the subject, "Why I Am A Boy Scout," follows:

Many times I stop to ask myself "Why did I become a Boy Scout?" and immediately a stream of answers come to my mind, that leaves no doubt in my mind as to the reason for my becoming a member of one of the most looked-up-to, interesting mind, body and moral building organizations in the United States of America.

One of the first reasons was that it was an interesting work and it became my chance to join the organization just at the age that a boy begins to look for something to occupy his mind. What can a boy have on his mind that will do him any better service than the teachings of the Boy Scouts of America. Not even the church, school or any other place or institution incorporates the best ideas from all the others as well as the Boy Scouts.

Next to the Ten Commandments that God gave Moses on Mount Sinai the Boy Scout laws are the most perfect example of the laws of God. United States under just these twelve laws would still be the greatest nation on the globe. If Rome had lived up to them the world had never fallen from the lofty pinnacle that they had climbed to.

That was the main reason and in a short time I soon found many others, namely the fun that one derives from belonging to the Scouts and the advantages it tends to all boys regardless of race, creed or color. Its main aim is to make them better citizens of United States and to learn them more about God and how to serve him better.

How can any alert, intelligent, young boy overlook such a chance. Surely I couldn't and I didn't.

CONSTIPATION
OF BAD SKIN

Get Natural Relief With Kellogg's ALL-BRAN

Rid yourself of constipation! The longer it lingers, the greater the poisons it sends through your body — poisons which can undermine your health and lead to many serious diseases.

The work of constipation shows in the face—pimples, pasty or sallow cheeks, dark circles. It brings headaches. Causes spots before the eyes. Unpleasant breath. But you can get prompt relief and prevent it! Begin eating Kellogg's ALL-BRAN today.

After all else has failed, thousands have regained their health with Kellogg's ALL-BRAN. Because it is 100% bran, it is 100% effective. Part-bran products bring only "part" results.

Doctors recommend it—and Kellogg's ALL-BRAN is guaranteed. Just eat two tablespoonfuls daily—chronic cases, with every meal.

Ready-to-serve with milk or cream. You will like its crispness and flavor. Use it in cooking. Sprinkle into soups. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek. Served by hotels, restaurants, dining cars. Sold by all grocers.
